Smyrna Ablaze and Ravaged by Invaders; Allies Plan Drastic Action

London, Sept. 15 (By International News Service).—One hundred thousand persons at Smyrna are threatened with death from starvation as a result of the huge concentration of Greek and Armenian refugees in that city. The city is threatened with total destruction. Great Britain, France and Italy are agreed upon unanimous action for the protection of the Turkish straits.

London, Sept. 15 (By Associated Press). — Two thousand Christians had been massacred in Smyrna by the Turks before the fire which swept the Armenian and other quarters of the Asia Minor seaport recently evacuated by the Greek army, it is charged in semi-official and other Greek messages from Athens received here today.

Among the Turkish outrages was the carrying off of many girl pupils of the American Girls' College, it is alleged.

The Greek belief is that the fire was set by the Turks to conceal the traces of their alleged misdeeds.

A considerable share of the property loss from the fire, the total of which is estimated in Greek quarters at 1,000,000,000 francs (about $75,000,000 at present exchange rate for the French franc), fell upon American firms.

MASSACRE CHRISTIANS.

"Absolutely trustworthy persons belonging to the foreign colonies at Smyrna and notably Americans arriving here on the Destroyer Simpson, which also brought United States Consul General Horton, relate terrifying details regarding the massacre of Smyrna following the big fire which reduced the Armenian, Greek and European sections of the town to ashes.

The admiral commanding the British squadron at Smyrna has warned the Turkish authorities in the city that if the massacres are continued the Turkish quarters will be bombarded, says an Exchange telegraph dispatch from Athens.

The British cabinet was summoned

MAYME SAYS FRIENDS ARE MISTAKEN

MISS MAYME THORNE.

Although living at the same Los Angeles hotel with her former husband, the Boston girl says the report that she is to remarry him is absurd.

"REMARRY HIM? NO!" DECLARES MRS. THORNE

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 15.—If Mrs. Mayme Wood Thorne of Chicago is going to remarry Frank B. Watling, Chicago business man, as her friends seem so confident that she will, then they know more about her affairs than she does.

As Mayme Wood of Boston, she eloped, it is said, with Thorne, when he was at Dartmouth College.

Watling could not be reached today. Here, however, is what Mrs. Thorne said with a flare of indignation:

"Remarry Mr. Watling? I don't know anything about it.

"That's a lot of talk by friends who don't know what they are talking about. I am most certainly not going to marry Mr. Watling."

"Isn't Mr. Watling occupying quarters in this hotel?" she was asked.

"I guess so," she admitted tartly. "But as for the story about our remarriage there is absolutely no truth in it. Our friends seem to know a lot more than I do about it."

JEWEL ROBBER SHOT, DYING IN HOSPITAL

Detroit, Sept. 15.—Sam Glasgow, one of three men who, led by a young woman, held up and robbed the Louis Meier jewelry store of $5,000 in diamonds shortly before noon today, is in a hospital in a critical condition with a bullet wound in the head. Glasgow was shot by Meier as he, leaving the store with his companions. The other members of the gang escaped.

PROTEST SCHOOL RACE LINE

Action Laid to Rich Whites Who Refused to Send Pupils the to Same Building

Parents of children barred from the Washington School in Winchester by the color line, which they charge has been drawn by the school authorities, plan a protest Monday night, at the next meeting of the School Board.

By the school board action a score of children, mostly colored, but with some Italian and one or two Irish, have been transferred from the Washington School to the Chapin School.

Parents of these children declare that the Chapin School is farther away and that no explanation for the transfers can be offered except the desire to make the Washington School more exclusive.

While preparations were being made today to prepare effective protests to the school board, William Guy of No. 6 Raymond place declared he would take the fight to the courts.

"This is merely an attempt to please the snobs who don't want their children sitting in the same school with children of colored parents, or of parents with less money than they have," he said.

"It ought to be possible to secure an injunction restraining the school authorities from carrying on a discrimination as unjust and mean as this and I plan to ask the courts for just such an injunction."

Robert Scanlon, an employe of the town, in the fire department, was also wrathy at the order compelling his children to walk a quarter of a mile farther to school.

"My children are now at home," he said. "Naturally I am disgusted. But what I have to say will be said Monday night at that school committee meeting. And I'll have plenty to say then.

Scanlon has four children barred, Mary Elizabeth, Edith, James and Robert. They live at No. 6 Harvard street, one of the streets transferred to the Chapin district.

In front of the Washington School, where they had been refused entrance, little William Robinson and Olive Green, both colored, played today. They were enjoying "no school" in spite of the reason for it. Their parents have been

20 KILLED IN DUBLIN BATTLE

Fighting Spreads Through the Greater Part of Free State

London, Sept. 15 (By International News Service). — Twenty persons were killed in battle in Dublin on Wednesday, according to delayed advices received here today.

Fighting is reported from the greater part of the Irish Free State. There was a particularly heavy engagement in the region of Kenmare, which has been recaptured from the Republicans.

There was also violent fighting in the section of Cliffden. The wireless station at Cliffden was reported to be isolated.

President William T. Cosgrave of the Dail Eireann is planning a peace move for Ulster. The removal of armed guards from the Ulster frontier indicates that an engagement between Dublin and Belfast is near.

The postal strike situation is unchanged. There has been an end of picketing, but the Free State troops are keeping strike disorders down.

Dublin, Sept. 15 (By International News Service).—Heavy fighting occurred here early today when Republicans attacked the Wellington and Porto Bello barracks, the Kingsbridge station and the telephone exchange. Several casualties were reported.

One man was killed and four others wounded in an hour's battle at Cliffden wireless station.

Cork Official Slain in Postal Strike

Cork, Ireland, Sept. 15 (By International News Service).—Superintendent Hallis of the Cork postal service died today from wounds received in an attack by strikers.

The Free State Cabinet has rejected the proposal for the appointment of a Dail Eireann committee to investigate the postal strike and arrange a settlement.

QUEEN OF CHINATOWN AGAIN IN TOILS

Irene Harrington, known as the "Queen of Chinatown," who is the wife of Ben Wong, held by the Federal authorities for violating the drug laws, was before Judge Duff in the Municipal Court today. The woman, who was arraigned on an old charge, was held for the Superior Court in $500 and turned over to the probation officer.

GIRL ARRESTED AS SHE ASKS FOR BUNDLE

Miss Ellmore Martin, twenty-four years, of No. 28 Queensbury street, Back Bay, was arrested at the Back Bay Postoffice today when she appeared to claim a bundle she had ordered from a department store on the charge account of Mrs. Elizabeth Webster, her apartment house neighbor.

The store, knowing that Mrs. Webster was away for the Summer, sent along Mrs. Ida Hall, detective, with the coat, shoes and bag, ordered by telephone. The bundle was valued at $40.95.

CLERK HELD; CHARGE HE RIFLED STORE

Joseph Tomasa, age sixteen, of Dedham, was arraigned in the Dedham District Court today charged with the larceny of $1,300 from John Chubet, grocery store proprietor at 1208 Washington street, Norwood, for whom he worked. His case was continued until September 23. Tomasa was apprehended yesterday in Meredith, N. H., where it is charged he fled after rifling the store safe of $1,300.

"Lucky Stone" Sales Legal if Fraud Isn't Used

The sale of "lucky stones," or four leaf clovers and rabbit paws, is perfectly legal. Judge Moton in the Federal Court ruled today, if the sale is without misrepresentation or fraud.

The ruling was made when granting an injunction to restrain the post office from interfering with Miss Helen F. Dolan's business of selling lucky stones. She bought out Walter E. Rand's lucky stone office after he had been released from jail where he was sentenced for fraud in his sales of the luck charms.

N. Y. YORK CENTRAL SIGNS STRIKE AGREEMENT

New York, Sept. 15 (By the Associated Press).—The entire New York Central Railroad system today signed an agreement with its conductors and trainmen covering working conditions, wages and rules for one year beginning Sept. 30. A statement issued by the New York Central said that the direct settlement agreement would provide for the immediate withdraw of all controversy on matters now pending before the U. S. Labor Board.

WEEPS AS SHE GETS 5 YEARS IN JAIL

Wife of the "Germicide King" Pleads Guilty to Manslaughter in Roslindale Tragedy

Mrs. Carrie M. Hubbard, who shot and killed her husband, William B. Hubbard, the "germicide king," at their home in Cosgrove street, Roslindale, the night of May 2, today pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the Suffolk Superior Court and was sentenced to five years and one month in the Women's Reformatory in Sherborn.

Mrs. Hubbard was in court but a few minutes. She was dressed in black. Her face was swollen and inflamed, as if she had been weeping a long time.

SHOT HUSBAND DEAD.

When she took her seat at the bar to plead, she broke down completely. She dropped her head on her arms, her shoulders shook convulsively and the sobs she was unable to stifle accompanied the statement by Assistant District Attorney Henry Fielding, in his recommendation to Judge Brown to accept a plea of guilty to that part of the indictment charging manslaughter.

When she was asked "Guilty or not guilty," she was at first unable to speak. She finally murmured, brokenly, "Guilty of manslaughter." Then, after hearing the sentence, she went out, in custody of court attendants.

She was a different person from

Aside to their story this, for behind a murderous rage, greed or love, she returned from a visit to the Arnold Arboretum accompanied by a young man, Edmund P. Dole.

Hubbard hurried himself on Pitts as described him. Mrs. Hubbard met with her husband, force for his release the youth.

Pitts was so terrified he ran out of court toward from until no sight the police next day after hearing of the tragedy.

Ben Hubbard released Pitlock, for Hubbard said, he turned on her.

Screamed to elude him, rushed to his car and secured a revolver. As they he came at her again, at first.

There was only one shot. That ended Hubbard's heart, killing him instantly.

Then Mrs. Hubbard went to the house and called Dr. Arthur Swan, of No. 8 Conway street. In calm tones she told him she had shot her husband and asked him to come over.

On his way to the house he stopped at the West Roxbury police station and notified Captain Clinton E. Howley. Two patrolmen accompanied the doctor to the house.

Mrs. Hubbard is forty-six years old. She has two sons and one daughter.

Pope Considers Accepting Gift of Airplane

Paris, Sept. 15 (By International News Service).—Pope Pius XI is considering acceptance of a gift of an airplane, according to a Rome dispatch to L'Intransigeant, today. He recently accepted an automobile from his friends and admirers in Northwestern Italy.

It is understood that the Pontiff will accept the airplane if he finds it possible to make a flight over the Vatican without passing beyond the boundaries of Catholic soil.

CURLEY GIVES OUT $38,000 CONTRACTS

The following contracts have been awarded by Mayor Curley: to Samuel D. Tonsello for asphalt paving in Normandy, Pasadena and Westville streets and Homes avenue, Dorchester, at $10,865.

Byrne and Company were awarded contracts for sewage works in Spring street, West Roxbury at $25,296; George J. Reagan, sewage work in Savannah avenue and Ogden street, Mattapan at $12,296.

The Mayor also announced the appointment of Dr. William J. Young as assistant resident surgeon at the City Hospital at $1800; George E. Capelle as an inspector of wires at $1,600; Floyd Malone as nurse at City Hall at $900 and twenty-three laborers to the Transit Department for work on the East Boston tunnel, Maverick square, East Boston.

NAB RUM SHIPS LOADED WITH GOLD

New York, Sept. 15.—The dry navy today captured two alleged rum running schooners, with cargoes worth about $150,000 and $10,000 in gold aboard, near the entrance to New York harbor, as well as an unnamed launch which sank while it was being towed into port. Another schooner and a swift power boat escaped.

The launch towed with twenty-three cases and ninety-six loose bottles of whiskey was caught by the rum chaser Newberry. When she attempted to tow the unmanned launch in, it sank, but not until the liquor cargo had been removed.

The launch bore the2 numerals 2,541, by which efforts are being made to trace her owner.

BAR CHURCH TO WIFE OF STRIKE-BREAKER

Cleveland, Sept. 15.—United States Marshal George A. Stauffer has gone to Lepsic Junction, Ohio, to serve a warrant upon the elder of a church there, who is alleged to have violated a Federal Court injunction.

The elder, a striker, is said to have attacked Mrs. John McJohnston, wife of an employe of the New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad, as she was shaking hands with Rev. George Wise, minister of the church.

"We don't want such people as you in this church," the elder told the woman as he raised his hands above his head and clenched his fists, according to affidavits. "We want you to get out of here and never show your face again."

Mrs. McJohnston fainted. She was taken to her home and a physician was called to revive her.

sending them back to the Washington School every day, seeing no other immediate way to protest.

This action has been followed by most of the parents, among whom are W. A. Savard, white; John R. Russell, Louis Lucas and Charles B. Kirby, colored, and Nicola Tarquini, Mrs. Paola Rollo and William Guy.

DENIES RACIAL SPITE.

John R. Fausey, superintendent of the schools, however, vehemently denies that the new districting was influenced by any racial, religious or social discrimination.

"Districting of a city is always difficult in order to secure a good school organization," he said. "It is particularly so in a town like Winchester, which has an uneven distribution of population.

"If racial and social distinctions are to be taken into consideration in addition to varying density of population, the problem is hopeless. It cannot be done. The distribution made this September was made without regard to racial or social distinctions. The factors involved were location of the buildings, number of rooms, grades of pupils and distances from school.

"The two schools are 4,400 feet apart. The halfway line cuts midway between Harvard and Irving streets, so that actually most of the pupils affected are nearer the Chapin school. The streets that they claim are farther from the Washington school are really nearer the Washington school, and the children there are not enough to make any difference. In the disputed district there are thirty-six children affected."

PLAN TO FIGHT CASE.

It is impossible to convince the parents whose children have been transferred that only school organization factors influenced the change.

The colored people in the district have selected the Rev. William H. Smith of No. 9 Harvard street, Charles Smith of No. 42 Harvard street, Charles Kirby of No. 35 Harvard street and George Jackson of Irving street as a committee to present their protest to the school board.

This committee has already drawn up a formal protest and sent it to the school board.

"We have not yet decided what action to take," Kirby said, "if the school board Monday does not heed this protest."

PRAYERS TOO LATE, CRITICS IN JAIL

Zion City, Ill., Sept. 15.—This goody-goody place was in an uproar today following the arrest of two ministers on complaint of Wilbur Glenn Voliva, leader of the religious community. Voliva charged Rev. Charles Buck, pastor of the Jesus Holy Church and Rev. S. Burton, traveling evangelist, with "conducting prayer meetings after 10 o'clock at night."

Voliva's literature, now being circulated, warns all theology in the city to "get out and start a religious community of your own."

for today to discuss the Near Eastern tangle.

SITUATION IS GRAVE.

One of the possible immediate results of the Cabinet conference is that Mustapha Kemal Pasha will be informed that he will be met not only by British troops and British ships, but by a Jugo-Slav army if he attempts to occupy Constantinople and cross the straits of the Dardanelles.

It is an established impression in military circles that the Turkish Nationalist army is large enough to take the Turkish capital if Kemal so desires; also that he has sufficient guns to drive the fleet out of the Bosphorus. It is considered unlikely, however, that he would take such desperate measures unless he was persuaded that in no other manner could he obtain the capital of Thrace.

On the other hand, there are intimations that the Serbs, the dominating element in the Jugo-Slav government, are determined not to have the Turks as neighbors in Thrace or to permit the Bulgars to secure a foothold on the Mediterranean Sea.

There were many signs of activity at the Foreign Office, indicating the gravity of the situation.

SLAY BRITISH OFFICIAL.

The horizon of the approaching conference on the Near East is daily broadening, with intimations that Rumania and Jugo-Slavia will support Greece and Great Britain in the effort to keep the Turks from regaining Thrace. A new factor has been brought into the situation, however, by the suggestion that Jugo-Slavia would demand as the price of her help the port of Saloniki, which she has long coveted as her logical port of entry on the south.

London newspapers urge the necessity of a quick agreement among the allies before the situation becomes further complicated, and especially before an outbreak of fresh fighting which might again set Europe aflame.

An American destroyer which arrived at Piraeus, Greece, reports that the Turks entered the British consulate at Smyrna and murdered an official there who was assembling the archives, says a Reuter dispatch from Athens.

Postmaster Wilkinson is also said to have been murdered, as well as other Englishmen. Sir Harry Lamb, the consul general, is believed to have escaped on board a warship.

An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Athens says:

"The Turkish population in Smyrna continues to be master of the situation. A number of Turkish officials, accused of having aided the Greeks, were executed in front of the government buildings.

MASSACRED HUNDREDS.

"Refugees arriving in Athens from Smyrna recount terrible stories regarding the state of the city, owing to the ferocity of the Turks. Immediately on their arrival the Kemalist troops gave themselves over to massacre and robbery of the Christians, and the quays were littered with corpses. A Greek journalist was shot dead, after being dragged through the streets tied to the back of an automobile.

"An American passenger who reached Piraeus from Smyrna says he saw 900 Armenians forced by the Turks to embark on a lighter. The Armenians were then shot down from the shore, the bodies being left floating in the water. According to other passengers, prominent members of the British colony in Smyrna were similarly murdered."

14 Americans Die as Consulate Burns

London, Sept. 15.—Dispatches today report the burning of the American consulate at Smyrna.

A dispatch from Athens reports that an American destroyer has taken the American consul and American citizens from Smyrna. Fourteen Americans are reported to have lost their lives in the fire. The fire is still raging. The missing Americans are all naturalized citizens.

Nationalists Demand Abdication of Sultan

London, Sept. 15 (By International News Service).—Abdication of the Sultan is one of the peace terms of Mustapha Kemal Pasha, according to an Angora dispatch to the Daily Mail today. The other conditions were outlined as follows: Return of Thrace, Constantinople and Adrianople; surrender of the Greek fleet and indemnity. The Turkish Nationalist leader threatened to march on Constantinople if his terms were refused.

Americans Are Taken to Athens by Warship

Athens, Sept. 15.—An American destroyer has arrived at Piraeus from Smyrna with the American consul and several other American citizens and numerous Armenian refugees.

A dispatch from Constantinople today said all the naturalized Americans in Smyrna were being taken to Athens, accompanied by George Horton, the American consul general, on board the torpedo boat destroyer Simpson.

Hundreds of Victims Lie in Smyrna Streets

Malta, Sept. 15.—Hundreds of bodies of victims of the Turkish massacre in Smirna were lying in the streets of the city when the British hospital ship Maine left there with more than 400 refugees on board, it is stated by Reuters' Smyrna correspondent who arrived on the Maine.

"When I left Smyrna," he said, "the Turks were still pillaging and massacring and hundreds of bodies were in the streets of the city and [illegible] outlying districts. Two villages five miles from Smyrna were afire. The British had withdrawn all patrols and guards, and several British houses had been requisitioned for Turkish officers.

"The Christians," he added, "have been placed in a terrible position owing to the highly reprehensible action of the retreating Greek army in burning towns and villages. Thousands of Greek refugees, when I left, were lying in lighters in the port and on the breakwater in a pitiable condition, without food or water, although the British had given them what assistance was possible. The raisin and fig crops have been mostly lost. Many British firms are hard hit."

COURT GRANTS INJURED MAN EXTRA FEE

The Massachusetts Supreme Court of the State, today in a decision written by Chief Justice Rugg, defined the province of the Industrial Accident Board.

The decision came on the plea of John Johnson, a blacksmith, employed by the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation during the war.

Johnson said that his elbow had been injured, that he had received some compensation and another job at a higher wage. After a time, however, he said, the elbow became again serious, so much so that he was compelled to accept a position at lower wages.

He appealed to the Industrial Accident Board, then to the Superior Court. When the latter body supported the decision of the Industrial Accident Board, he appealed to the Supreme Court.

DEFINES LAW IN CASE.

Said the decision of the full bench today: "The decree entered in the Superior Court was that 'the decree of the Industrial Accident Board of April 27, 1922 be affirmed.' That is wrong. The Industrial Accident Board is not a court but an administrative tribunal.

"The Industrial Accident Board cannot enforce its own orders. The Workman's Compensation Act of necessity provides that the decisions of the board be enforced by court proceedings. It is only in that way that such a decree can be enforced. A formal order of the court settles the rights of parties. It must decide by its own terms what these rights are to the end that they may be enforced.

COSTS ADDITIONAL SUM.

"It must inform the parties as to their rights and obligations. It must contain enough to permit the court itself to adjudge whether its decision has been flouted, if there are proceedings for contempt, and to enable the sheriff to ascertain the bounds of his duty if execution issues.

"Merely to say that the decision of an administrative board is affairmed satisfies none of these essentials of the judgment of the court."

"BASHFUL ONES ARE SAFER"

Expert Lovers Are Ones Who Have Had Practice, Deserted Wife Finds

By GRACE DESCHAMPS.

"It was his stock in trade—making love.

"And that's the kird to look out for.

"If his talent runs to love-making, it's a safe bet he's short on other things."

Dalphine Bagnell Langevin, of Everett, seventeen-year-old deserted bride of Roger F. Langevin, who proposed to Dalphine while he still had a wife, and who had just finished marrying a third when Dalphine told the police, is authority for the above.

After marrying Dalphine last Winter and living happily on her indulgent family until relations became strained, young Langevin, with a martyred air, set out last March for Connecticut to look for a job.

HER LOVE IS DEAD.

Roger's job was a long one. Mrs. Langevin heard nothing from him until she saw his picture in the American with the story of his romantic elopement and marriage to sixteen-year-old Frances Kelliher, of Putnam.

"The love I had for him is dead," said the disillusioned bride today. "Right now I'd like to see him get all that is coming to him. I wouldn't be charitable if I were to forgive Roger; I'd just be silly. I never want to see him again.

"It's been an expensive lesson, but after this I'll know what qualities to look for in a man—and what to avoid.

"If a man makes love easily and is full of ardor, he's pretty apt to be just a trifle insincere and he may even be deceitful. Deceitful people are always more or less graceful-mannered. But if he's rather shy and modest—even a bit dull—it's more than likely that he's a worth while man underneath, and a safer husband than his glib competitor.

MET ON THE FARM.

"I met Roger last Summer when I was vacationing on a farm in Derry, N. H. I was sixteen and Roger was twenty-three. He was attractive and charming and paid considerable attention to me.

"After I came back to Everett Roger continued to visit me and to protest that he cared very much for me. Finally, one day, I decided to marry him. All this time he never mentioned the fact that he had been married when he met me last Summer and that his wife had just secured a divorce from him on the grounds of extreme cruelty.

"We were married and we went to Reed's Ferry, New Hampshire, where his family lived, for our honeymoon. No member of his family ever intimated that he had been married before.

NEVER SUPPORTED HER.

"Shortly afterwards we returned to my people. During this time he never did an hour's work nor contributed a penny toward my support. My uncle tried to induce him to go to work, but he refused. Finally my uncle obtained a job for him as a chauffeur. He made all the arrangements for my husband and all Roger had to do was to report for work in the morning.

"But Roger flatly refused to go to work. My people came to the conclusion that he had better make some effort to support me or seek a job somewhere else. Last March my husband told me that he would go to Connecticut where he had heard of work, and secure a job as a chauffeur.

"That was the last I heard of him. Very naturally any affection I may have had for him dwindled when I realized that he had deserted me. It was the crowning touch, however, when my uncle picked up a copy of the American to see Roger smilingly playing the role of the happy bridegroom.

"There is one trouble with every girl. It is quite natural, of course, but it is the weakness that often leads to unhappiness and disillusionment. A girl looks for manners and dash in a man instead of solid worth. Roger was mannerly and had an easy way about him. It was his gentlemanly tricks that won my admiration for him.

"When you meet a man who is extremely easy and flattering in his manner, you can rest assured that he's had PRACTICE. There've been other girls.

"But Roger's practice as a husband didn't really do him much good. His apprenticeship with his first wife certainly didn't make him much of a husband to me."

Room With Private Family Desirable

Many men—and women, too—prefer the quiet and peacefulness of a family where there are no other roomers.

If you are one of these provident persons who would like to rent your spare room, you can do so any time you want. The matter is really in your hands, because The Boston American is always ready to do its part.

The "Furnished Rooms" column, a few pages over, is read carefully by those who want rooms.

(Photo by Champlain Studios.)

GIBSON PICKS HUB BEAUTY AS MODEL

Out of the hundreds of "charming girls" from all parts of the country who competed in the national beauty contest at Atlantic City, Miss Charlotte Trowbridge, seventeen-year-old Winthrop girl, who appeared as "Miss Boston," was selected by Charles Dana Gibson, the famous artist, as his model.

On her return to Boston after what she said was the "most wonderful week she ever had," Miss Trowbridge told of the flattering offer from the great artist. It was not the only offer she had though. A representative of the Famous-Players-Lasky Corporation wants her to work in the movies.

OFFER FROM SHUBERTS.

The firm of Sam S. and Lee Shubert offered her a position with one of their current Broadway successes and a well known manufacturer of women's clothing wanted to sign her up right away as a model for his misses' clothes.

But the Charles Dana Gibson offer is the one the dainty "Miss Boston" will accept.

Though feted and entertained from early morning until late at night, Miss Trowbridge admitted when she reached the South Station that she was glad to be home.

BROADWAY DISAPPOINTS.

She visited New York and saw Broadway and—sad to relate—was disappointed.

"I didn't think so much of their old 'White Way,' she said, "and then naively remarked that she even waited 'till nine o'clock at night before she made her inspection of the famous thoroughfare.

She took her first ride in a New York bus. "But right on the front seat so I wouldn't miss a thing," she said.

Took her first ride in an aeroplane. "It was grand and I could have stopped up in that plane for hours and hours. The pilot was wonderful, Captain A. L. Allen was his name."

NEW DIVIDEND IN PRIVATE BANK CASE

A new dividend of 8 per cent. will be paid on October 4 to the creditors of George P. Anastos, a private banker of Boston, whose business was taken over by Bank Commissioner Allen in February of 1921. The new dividend will amount to $17,573 and will be paid only to the depositors who left their money with the banker for transmission abroad. A dividend of 15 per cent. has already been paid to general creditors.

WAR RECORD FAILS TO SAVE WAR VET

The war record of Theodore M. Sullivan, colored, of Sidney street, Cambridge, saved him from punishment last July when his wife had him in court for non-support. Today Theodore was in the same court again on the old charge. He tried to save himself by the war record, but Judge Stone decided the record had become overworked and gave him six months. Theodore appealed bail.

BROKEN RAIL DELAYS SOUTH SHORE TRAINS

Inbound New Haven trains were held to five miles an hour past the Norfolk Downs Station following discovery of a broken rail by a station employe. The employe at once notified the train dispatcher. Section men repaired the rail and trains were running at usual speed in an hour.

WOUNDED, HE HURRIES FROM HOSPITAL

D'Amato, whose wife, Gladys Lorraine D'Amato, was released from custody when the police were unable to obtain a warrant for her arrest, was still weak from loss of blood.

Hospital officials said his wound had not sufficiently healed and that grave consequences might follow his precipitate departure.

D'Amato's insistence in leaving the hospital may have been due to the fact that he and his wife were ordered to vacate their apartment, according to Maurice Bornstein, proprietor of the Fenmore.

It was learned that the man's first wife, known to the police only as "Florence," was the cause of the shooting. He left her in New York and she obtained a divorce from him in this city. Recently D'Amato and his present wife met the other woman on the street, according to the police. D'Amato's greeting to the former Mrs. D'Amato aroused the ire of the present wife and a quarrel followed which is said to have resulted in the shooting.

The present Mrs. D'Amato is said to have been Catherine O'Brien, who on her marriage intentions gave her occupation as saleswoman and address as Audubon road, Back Bay.

SUPT. CROWLEY MAY BE ASSN. PRESIDENT

Superintendent of Police Crowley is mentioned as a possibility for president of the International Association for Identification, which is in convention here. The election is to take place tomorrow at the State House. Others mentioned for the office are Bosco C. Hill, head of the Massachusetts Bureau of Identification; Inspector Gustaf of Insurance Underwriters, and Sanford Bates, commissioner of correction. Delegates who addressed the meeting again stressed the necessity and practicability of a Federal finger print bureau and a national system of identification. Al Dunlap of Chicago, one of the speakers, characterized the United States as "the most crime-ridden country in the world."

REV. H. S. JOHNSON TO STUDY STRATEGY

Rev. Herbert S. Johnson, D.D., former pastor of the Warren Avenue Baptist Church, a major of the Organized Reserves, will leave next week for the war college, Washington, where he will study strategy in order to qualify himself for a larger work in the intelligence department of the U. S. army. This will not interfere with his work as a Baptist evangelist.

HOWLING DOG LANDS OWNER IN COURT

Ellen McDonald of No. 148 West Concord street, South End, was in municipal court today charged with keeping a biting and barking dog. William W. Risk, one of the neighbors, who prosecuted the case, had a large number of witnesses who testified their slumbers were disturbed by the dog's nocturnal howlings. Judge Duff recommended the dog be sent away for one month, and on his return, if he continued to howl, must be disposed of.

Flapper Bobs Brushes and Ruins the Foreman's Good Nature

By THE FLAPPEE.

Caryl Frink.

"Remember you are making Whiting Adams Brushes. Do your best."

With a sign like the above staring you in the face, how could you possibly be anything but an expert clipper? That was my job. Bobbing floor brushes. Getting 'em nice an' even so the ultimate consumer or street cleaner, couldn't find anything the matter with 'em.

Now, children, there is more to the making of a brush than you half suppose. Just think how many kinds there are. Complexion, dog, hat, hair, nail, paint, cloth, scrub, and tooth, to say nothing of daggers. Daggers, in case your father isn't a coach maker, are the tiny pointed brushes that are partly responsible for the bright red hair stripes on the waistlines of some of our best Fords.

FROM OXEN'S EARS.

And think, too, if you haven't gone to sleep by now, how many kinds of bristles are used to make the many kinds of brushes. Some of 'em are taken from oxen's ears, and others from the sable's whiskers. Did you know that your papa shaves with a badger's tail?

But to get back to the bench where I spent the day yesterday. You don't exactly hafta have a barber's license to be a brush trimmer, but you hafta be rather quick with the shears. Bert, who was mowing the ochin whiskers off a flock of grade A scrub brushes, gave me my first instructions.

"An' when you get good," he said, hopefully, "you get to trim in the shaving brush department."

"What's so swell about that?" I asked him.

"Well," he said. "You're working with badger hair instead o' hog bristles. It's more refined work."

EXPECT PROMOTION.

"And where do you go from there?" I wanted to know.

"Oh, to the artists' brushes, maybe," he said, with the look of a dreamer in his eyes. "Those are made of red sable and they're pretty fine work, I tell you. Sable's worth about $250 a pound. That's money."

"Well, attaboy, Bert," I encouraged the lad. "I expect to see you get to the top of your chosen field in one clean sweep. All you'll hafta do is brush up on a few points—"

"Hey," interrupted the foreman. "Look what you've done. I told you to trim 'em, not shingle 'em."

The foreman was right. In my Rotary Club talk to Bert I had neglected my work. I had clipped my floor brush right to the nape of its silly neck.

May heaven forgive me—the foreman never will.

I had forgotten that I was making a Whiting-Adams Brush!

CLEMENCEAU TO LET U. S. POLITICS ALONE

Paris, Sept. 15.—"The suggestion that I intend to try to influence the American election in November with my speeches on post-war problems is sheer madness," declared former Premier Georges Clemenceau in a telegram to the Paris Bureau of International News Service today.

M. Clemenceau's telegram continued: "I know nothing about American political parties. I have not got a single opinion about them."

It had been rumored in the United States, according to cable advices, that "the Tiger" would attempt to rally American sentiment in favor of the League of Nations."

MAJ. HARPER, DENTIST, GOES TO FORT BANKS

Major Neal A. Harper, Dental Corps, U. S. A., has been relieved from duty in Washington and assigned to Fort Banks, succeeding Major Benjamin C. Warfield. Major Harper is a graduate of St. Louis University and is noted as a writer on dental subjects.

SHAVE 'R' HAIR-CUT

Bobbing brushes is badger's bonnet strings, but it calls for awful akerate work. I overclipped one, and promptly got the old canoe. But whadda I care? Something else is sure to turn up by tomorrow.

KILLS HIS WIFE, MOTHER-IN-LAW WOUNDS SELF

Bangor, Me., Sept. 15.—At their home in Kenduskeag, Adelbert W. Wilson, 49, shot and killed his wife, Nellie, 27, and her mother, Mrs. Letitia Darling, 58, and a little later shot himself, inflicting a wound that may prove fatal. He is on the dangerous list at the Eastern Maine General Hospital.

Wilson went to his store, near the house, and informed his son by a former wife that he had killed the two women.

He then ran back to the house, and a few minutes later, when the son and neighbors arrived, he was found lying on the pantry floor with blood flowing from a wound in his breast.

Close by was the body of his wife, and in the dining room lay the corpse of her mother. The revolver used by Wilson was found behind the kitchen door.

Wilson was removed to the hospital, while the bodies of the two women remain at the scene of the tragedy, awaiting autopsy on Friday by Medical Examiner Milliken. Jealousy is the only motive ascribed for the shooting.

RUSSIAN BARITONE COMING FOR U. S. TOUR

New York, Sept. 15.—Feodor Challapin, famous Russia nbaritone, who is coming to the Metropolitan for a minimum of fifteen performances, will receive 30 per cent. more than Caruso was ever paid for a like number of appearances. Challapin sails from London on Oct. 5.

Challapin made his first appearance in this city after a long absence last year. It is understood at that time that he was receiving $4,000 for each appearance, Caruso was paid only $2,500 for his performances.

It was also learned that the singer would play the leading part in a motion picture while in this country.

Feodor Challapin.

DISEASED CATTLE AT N. Y. STATE FAIR

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 15.—One pure bred heifer is dead and eight pure bred cows and bulls at the State Fair are sick with a disease corresponding to influenza among human beings. The cattle affected are valued at between $40,000 and $50,000. Quarantine measures have been taken to safeguard other stock at the fair worth more than a million dollars.

VOCATIONAL COURSES AT ARMY POSTS

Seven courses in vocational education are opened to army at Fort Banks and Fort Ethan Allen in October. These courses embrace auto repairing and driving, radio operation, general machinists, plumbing typewriting, stenography and carpentering. The vacancies are for 100 men.

PASTOR SPRINGS DEATH TRAP AT VET'S HANGING

Fort Madison, Ia., Sept. 15.—A veteran of the World War stood on the scaffold at noon today and was sent into eternity by another veteran of the same World War—a minister decorated for bravery on the battlefield.

The hangman was the Rev. W. F. Ross, sheriff of Polk county, the first American clergyman to spring a death trap and carry out the mandate of the law as an executioner.

Weeks kept his nerve as he sat in his cell and watched the hours pass waiting for the call to begin the march to the scaffold, a reconciliation between the condemned man and his wife took place yesterday. He had not seen her since his trial when she appeared against him and later tried to collect the $2,500 reward for his conviction.

"I have forgiven her," Weeks said as he went to the scaffold.

BLACK EYE LANDS BURGLAR IN CELL

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 15.—A black eye that lasted three days led to the arrest of a burglar who trespassed in the home of Helen Doherty, age fourteen.

When the burglar entered her home three days ago, Helen put up such a stiff resistance that he quickly fled, but not before Helen presented him with a dainty wallop on his eye. Today she recognized the black eye and the man wearing it, and at once called one of Brooklyn's finest, and the man was arrested.

THIRD EXTENSION FOR GEN. WOOD

Manila, Sept. 15.—J. W. Zeigler, unofficial representative of the University of Pennsylvania, announced today that all misunderstandings between Governor-General Leonard Wood and the regents of the university had been straightened out and General Wood would be extended a third leave of absence.

Zeigler said General Wood was certain to take up his work in Philadelphia early next year, and praised the work of General Wood.

CLOTHIERS ELECT JULIUS C. MORSE

New York, Sept. 15.—Resolutions opposing legislation of any character which will increase the cost of clothing to the consumer were unanimously adopted today at the convention of the National Retail Clothiers' Association. Julius C. Morse of Boston was elected a vice-president.

CHARGED WITH MURDER IN LAWRENCE

Gustafe Raymond, alias Constantin Marotto of South Weymouth, wanted in Lawrence for the murder of Carlo Alecci seven years ago, was arraigned in South Boston court today charged with assault with intent of murder Gaspare Lentini of No. 6 Kimball place, South Boston.

The attack took place a few weeks ago on the Summer street bridge, when Raymond and Lentini exchange d shots, Raymond being wounded so severely that he has just been released from th hospital.

If was found guilty and his case placed on file, permitting Lawrence police officers to take him to that city. He is charged with murdering Alecci on June 19, 1916. Lentini, who was shot and wounded in the gun battle, was found not guilty of assault with intent to murder and was discharged.

DUFFY DEFEATED ON NEW PRIONER RULING

Dublin, Sept. 15.—In Parliament a motion made by Gavan Duffy, ex-minister of foreign affairs in the Dail Cabinet, urging the necessity of regulating by legislation the Provisional government's action with regard to prisoners and interned men, was defeated by a vote of 50 to 21.

Mr. Duffy, alluding to the men being held, declared that unless justice was done them there would be immediate danger of friction with Americans, as friends in the United States were being filled with animosity toward the Provisional government on account of the outrages against people who were in arms.

MOTORISTS FINED IN NEWTON COURT

Frank Bergeson of No. 13 Bellevue street, Waltham, was arraigned before Judge Weston in Newton today, charged with driving a car while under the influence of liquor.

He was fined $50 and given a suspended sentence of thirty days in the House of Correction. Judge Weston explained the tendency of his sentence by stating that Bergeson was the sole support of his family.

Maxwell A. Weinberg of No. 286 Norumbega street, Dorchester, was arraigned on a speeding charge. He was attracting sympathy by his plea that it was the first time he had ever been in court, when a probation officer produced records which showed he had been arrested twice before for speeding. He was fined $20 and appealed.

MRS. HARDING SHOWS SLIGHT IMPROVEMENT

Washington, Sept. 15. — Steady though slow improvement was noted today in the condition of Mrs. Warren G. Harding. From now on, her physicians said, recovery would be a slow, uphill climb, with the physicians guarding at every turn against a relapse.

ACCUSED OF LARCENY HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Patrick Crouse of No. 439 Sixth street, South Boston, was arraigned in Sout h Boston court today, charged with the robbery of $18 from Allen M. Roberts of No. 173 West Sixth street. He pleaded guilty and was held in $1,000 for the Grand Jury.

MOONSHINE ARTIST IS ASSESSED $100

Albert Rikel in South Boston Court today was found guilty of keeping liquor and was fined $100. The police seized two stills, six gallons of moonshine and thirteen barrels of mash when they raided his home.

"DRY" DAYS BOOM PRICE OF GRAPES

FALLS IN KETTLE OF CATSUP, BOY, 4, DEAD

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Dominic Fidrino, four, died today, several hours after he fell into a kettle of catsup which his mother had just taken from a stove and placed on the floor.

BOOTLEGGING SCHOOL HAS 'GRADUATED'

Revere, N. J., Sept. 15.—The only school of home-brewing in this section of the country according to prohibition enforcement agents, was broken up, disbanded and wiped out.

Prohibition Divisional Chief Appleby in servitude of his enforcement units descended on the place, put its headmaster and all his pupils in detention in evident haste, leaving several barrels of mash and a large assortment of educational matter.

Mr. Appleby said that the establishment was unique among bootlegging and allied industries in that the man whose arrest he is seeking did not interest himself particularly in selling the product but specialized in teaching citizens how to make their own.

After the evidence is assorted and studied, information may be forthcoming as to the nature of graduation exercises and the names of alumni, he said.

12-YEAR-OLD GIRL DIRECTS OWN PLAY

"The Young Visitors," the Daisy Ashcroft story which roused such a storm of literary discussion, has its counterpart down Nantasket way. Twelve-year-old Kathleen Collins of Wayeland has written a one-act play, "Hyacinth Flyer." More than that she gathered together a group of young actors and directed them. The kids gave the play for the benefit of the Army and Navy Club and made a decided hit.

WIFE DESERTED HIM, CLAIMS GALLAGHER

Robert Gallagher, law partner of Joseph Denniscn, has brought suit for divorce against Ethel M. Gallagher, charging desertion.

In his divorce suit Gallagher charged his wife deserted him January 3, 1918, and that there are four children. They are Miriam, eight years old; Ruth, seven years old; Walter, five years old, and Barbara, four years old.

The case has been set for trial the first Monday in October, with Henry E. Lawler of No. 78 School street acting as counsel for Gallagher.

In May of 1911 he created a sensation by buying at auction the rights in a $50,000 legacy left by the father of Hammond Braman, who had been cut off with only the income of the legacy. Braman was married several times without children and was finally forced into bankruptcy. Gallagher stood to win the $50,000 if Braman should die without issue.

LILA LEE DENIES SHE WILL WED CHAPLIN

Elyria, Ohio, Sept. 15.—Denial that she is going to marry Charlie Chaplin has been made by Miss Lila Lee, film star, who stopped off here for a brief visit to her sister. "Charlie Chaplin and I marry?" Miss Lee exclaimed. "No, we are not going to be married. In fact, I don't think Mr. Chaplin will ever marry again."

SEEKS DIVORCE FROM MAN SHE BEAT IN JAIL

Mrs. Margaret Murphy Fox, of No. 25 Neptune road, East Boston, has brought suit for annulment of her marriage to Clyde L. Fox, of Springfield. The basis of her suit is a charge that Fox has another wife, from whom he was never divorced.

The suit is the aftermath of an incident last October, when Margaret, who claims she is Wife No. 2, accompanied by the mother of Wife No. 3, visited Mr. Fox while he was in jail at Springfield, and after reproaching him for his alleged perfidy, administered a sound thrashing. Wife No. 3 is Angelina Gaeta of Springfield, and during Wife No. 2's visit to Springfield, Wife No. 2 and Wife No. 3 lived together.

Wife No. 1, according to No. 2 and No. 3, is Nellie G. Keatley, of Hollidaysburg, Pa.

OWNER AWAY, COAL SUPPLY IS STOLEN

The first black diamond robbery of the season was discovered when Harry A. Bruen of No. 27 Sargent street, Dorchester, paid a visit to his home, which had been locked up all Summer, and found a cellar window broken. Investigation disclosed that three tons of hard coal had been stolen. A great deal of other material in the cellar, some of it of value, was left untouched.

TWO CANDIDATES QUIT HOUSE RACE

Only two candidates had announced their withdrawal from the political race when the time limit on withdrawals expired at the Secretary of State's office. These were Nicholas Francis Braniff of Webster, independent candidate in the 6th Worcester representative district, and Robert J. White, Independent candidate for representative in the 7, to raise funds for milk and other supplies for the starving children of Russia. The organization seeks the volunteer services of 1,000 young ladies to sell flowers on that day. All who are interested are asked to write or telephone the committee headquarters.

WIFE 2 AND HUSBAND SHE THRASHED IN JAIL

MR. AND MRS. CLYDE L. FOX

Former Margaret Murphy of East Boston has sued for divorce a year after she visited a Springfield jail and "beat up" her husband. He is said to have had three wives, which is quite a record for a stock salesman.

The American Committee for the Relief of Russian Children, with headquarters at No. 31 Mt. Vernon street, will hold a "Flower Day" in Greater Boston on Saturday, October

MORE PROTESTS ON BALLOT SHORTAGE

More protests against the primary election of last Tuesday, based on the shortage of ballots alleged to have deprived many voters of the chance to cast their ballots, were filed with the State Ballot Commission by unsuccessful candidates.

C. Joseph Harvey, who lost in the campaign for the Republican nomination for representative from Winthrop, charged that the returns from officers in Precinct 2 were erroneous, declaring that a correction of the count of votes, made by the town clerk, was illegal and deprived him of votes with which he should have been credited.

Many Republican voters were intentionally furnished with Democratic ballots by precinct officers, he asserted, while many voters were not furnished with ballots and could not vote.

Other defeated candidates who filed protests were:

POISON VICTIM'S WILL IS SOUGHT

Safe deposit boxes rented by Isaac Wolper, motion picture producer, who died at the American House from poison, will be opened in the hope of locating his will. Considerable mystery surrounds the disposal of a large sum of money which Wolper is said to have realized from motion picture successes. One of his biggest productions was "The Miracle Man"

FALLS 30 FEET, LANDS ON HEAD, WALKS AWAY

Carl Rohme, thirty-eight years old, of Tremont street, Lynn, fell thirty feet today while painting a house on Hamilton avenue, Lynn, struck on a fence, bounced to a concrete sidewalk, landing on his head, and was able to walk to the police ambulance when it arrived.

He lost unconsciousness, however, when taken to the Lynn Hospital, where he is suffering from a possible fracture of the skull.

CHARGE SO. BOSTON MAN WITH FUR THEFT

Louis J. Travis of No. 127 C street, South Boston, is under arrest on the charge of the larceny of a fur coat from the Quality Shop, on Main street in Brockton. The police allege that Travis, accompanied by another man and a woman, visited the store, where the woman tried on a coat valued at $250. The coat was missed after they left. Travis' arrest came when he returned to the store to get a fur piece the woman had left there.

LINER MAJESTIC WILL BE REPAIRED HERE

The White Star liner Majestic, the world's largest ship, will be put in drydock at the Commonwealth Pier some time early in November, according to announcement by officials of the White Star line.

The Commonwealth drydock is the only structure of its kind in the world large enough to accommodate the liner. The liner is 915 feet long and 100 feet beam. The dock is 1,200 feet long. It will contain about 50,000,000 gallons of water before the liner is docked. The liner will be inspected, cleaned and painted while in drydock here.

6,000 CLERKS AT MERCY OF NEW STATE BUREAU

The jobs of nearly 100 State employes and a half-dozen high-priced officials were placed in jeopardy today when the new law went into effect abolishing the State Supervisor of Administration and setting up in its place a new department to be known as the Commission on Administration and Finance.

One of the jobs abolished is that of Thomas W. White, State Supervisor of Administration and the political field agent of Vice-President Calvin Coolidge and Governor Cox.

WILL GET NEW JOB.

In the place of his $4,000 job as State Supervisor, he will probably be kept on the public roll in the $7,000 position as chief of the new division.

Several well-paid department heads go down with White, but they may not come back to the surface so easily, while the position of the nearly 100 clerks and others in the department will be at the mercy of the new commission to be appointed by Governor Cox.

More than 6,000 additional State employes will also be indirectly affected because the new commission will contain a division which will pass upon the qualifications and salary increases of all on the State payroll.

PURCHASE ALL SUPPLIES.

The new commission will have a Comptroller's Bureau, a Budget Bureau and a Purchasing Bureau. The latter will have charge of the purchase of all State supplies.

The Comptroller's Bureau will do all the accounting work now done by the State Auditor's and State Treasurer's departments.

The chairman of the new commission will be paid $7,000 a year. There will be three other members of the commission, each with a salary not to exceed $6,500.

DR. LORENZ COMING BACK TO NEW YORK

New York, Sept. 15.—Dr. Adolph Lorenz, the famous Austrian surgeon who was in America for several months, more than a year ago, will return to the United States within the next two weeks and will establish clinics in New York, according to Dr. Jacob Sobel, formerly attached to the New York City Health Department, who is at home today after several months abroad.

Dr. Sobel, who spent some time in Vienna with Dr. Lorenz, said that famous surgeon would sail from Europe Sept. 15 on the Reliance. He will bring with him his two sons, one of whom is also a surgeon. After a few months in New York, Dr. Sobel said, Dr. Lorenz plans to visit several western cities.

PARIS FIRE CHIEF DUE HERE TOMORROW

The Boston fire department is all prepared to put its best foot forward when Paul Vaniniot, chief of the fire brigade of Paris, France, reaches this city tomorrow.

He will be shown an exhibition drill at fire headquarters on Bristol street, including work by the rescue company and gas-mask drill, and during his ten days' stay here it is probable he will attend several fires.

Tomorrow he will be met by Chief Tobey, District Chief Caulfield and Lieutenant Bowers, aide to the chief, and it will be the province of these three officials to make his stay pleasant and instructive.

SUICIDE NOT WOLPER OF HARRISON AVE.

Isaac Wolper, suicide at the American House, had no connection with the Edinboro Manufacturing Company of 568 Harrison avenue, it became known today through the objection of the Harrison avenue business man to being classed as dead.

CIGAR MAKER BADLY BURNED IN SHOP FIRE

Frank Siepel, a seventy years old cigar maker of Belknap road, East Dedham, threw some lighted paper into his drying machine in the attic shop at his home today. Sparks fell on the floor and set it afire. Siepel extinguished the blaze without serious damage to the house, but was badly burned about the face and hands. He was treated by Dr. Henry M. Grady.

GETS 3 MONTHS FOR TRYING TO LEAVE JAIL

John Larkin, whose swim across Shirley Gut failed to make good his escape from the Sentimentalists at Deer Island, was given a suspended sentence of three months in the same institution in the East Boston Court today for trying to get away.

COP GETS TRIO OF ROBBERS BY LETTERS

Three alleged thieves calmly walked into the City Hall avenue station believing they were to explain a minor traffic violation, and then found that they were charged with larceny. One of them carried the watch that had been stolen.

Police officials say that never was a trap set more cleverly and more successfully, and they give all the credit to Patrolman Chris Hammerslough.

On the night of September 18 Hammerslough noticed three young men helping another, somewhat under the weather, into an automobile in Adams square. The three said they were taking the man home. The three gave their names as Salvatore Cavicchio, No. 64 Medford street, Somerville; Amato Ventura, No. 140 Cross street, Somerville, and John Magliocel, No. 3 Marcella street, Cambridge. The man they were helping was James P. Lambert, No. 66 Mapleton street, Brighton.

The next night the patrolman saw Lambert in the square and asked him if he had got home all right. Lambert told him that he had been robbed of his watch, valued at $50, and $14 in cash.

Then Hammerslough wrote the letters asking Cavicchio to call at the station house to explain the traffic violation, and the other two to come in as witnesses.

AGED WOMEN VOTERS CONGRATULATE COX

Hubby at Party

MRS. HERBERT W. EDWARDS.

Mrs. Daisy Ethel Edwards, a Back Bay matron, climbed up a rain spout in the lead of a squad of policemen several weeks ago and came upon her husband, Herbert, and three companions, in the midst of a hilarious party, she asserts.

Now Mr. Edwards' alleged companion at the reported party, Mrs. Viola E. Verdi of New York, has been named as corespondent in a suit for divorce brought by Mrs. Edwards.

Recently, Mrs. Verdi returned to her husband in New York at the instigation of Boston probation officers, who accompanied her to the train when she left.

STRIKERS IN PARLEY WITH N. Y. CENTRAL

Washington, Sept. 13.—A hurried conference between officials of the Department of Labor and the general chairmen of the Brotherhood of Railroad clerks, freight handlers and ticket sellers was held today at the Labor Department in an effort to avert a strike among such employes on the Pennsylvania system.

New York, Sept. 15 (By the Associated Press).—Two labor conferences, affecting different groups of railroad workers, were on the calendar here today.

At noon, W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and L. E. Sheppard, president of the Order of Railway Conductors, went into conference with A. H. Smith, head of the New York Central lines, and about forty other road officials and labor leaders, to receive the New York Central's answer as to whether it was willing to agree to continuance of present wage scales, working conditions and rules in a new agreement.

Later in the day Mr. Smith and other officials of the New York Central were scheduled to meet federation chairmen representing the system's striking shopmen.

While the purpose of this conference was not officially announced, it was understood that the question of whether the New York Central would subscribe to a settlement on the basis reached in the peace negotiations at Chicago would be discussed.

Big Roads Balk on Peace Plans

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Refusal by a number of the country's biggest railway systems to enter into the Ward-Field-Willard-Jewell plan for ending the shopmen's strike on the basis of separate and individual agreements, developed an element of considerable uncertainty today over the scope and effectiveness of the peace program.

While some of the larger systems had flatly rejected the plan, others, however, notably the Chicago & Northwestern, and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, had virtually completed arrangements for restoring strikers at once to their former jobs under terms of the separate settlement plan.

PUSH NEGOTIATIONS.

Negotiations were in progress with several roads in an effort by shop craft officials to effect additional settlement. Strike leaders were said to be addressing communications to some of the unwilling roads asking them to reconsider their rejections.

Among the larger systems said to have closed the door against the settlement plan today were: Pennsylvania, Union Pacific, Norfolk & Western, Southern Pacific, Chicago & Alton, Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, Northern Pacific, Great Northern, Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, Missouri, Kansas & Texas and subsidiary lines.

OUTSIDE THE PACT.

Other roads still outside the agreement included Central of Georgia, Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, Erie, Illinois Central, Louisville & Nashville, Missouri Pacific, Frisco, Wabash, Santa Fe, Chicago, Great Western and numerous others.

About fifty roads were generally understood to have accepted the settlement proposals.

B. & M. Hands to Be Kept, Says Hustis

Anticipation that the Boston & Maine railroad will soon be able to function normally despite the fact that the shopmen's strike settlement does not apply to it, is voiced in a statement issued from the office of H. H. Hustis, president of the line.

"The places of the men, comprising practically the entire motive power and car repair forces, who left our service on July last, have been generally filled," reads the statement. "The work is being performed by men who had our assurance that they would be protected in their employment, provided their work was satisfactory.

"This assurance stands. What has been accomplished by these men and by the supervisory forces and volunteers was beyond our expectations. The new men are gaining experience daily. We believe that the situation is well in hand, and that the course we have taken and will continue to follow will meet the situation."

CHEMIST SAYS MINERS STILL ALIVE

Jackson, Cal., Sept. 15.—Dr. L. H. Duschak, consulting chemical engineer of the California Industrial Accident Commission, today issued a signed statement in which he predicted that the forty-seven miners entombed for eighteen days in the Argonaut Mine would be found alive.

"There is ground for assuming that the men under ground were no overcome by the poisonous gases from the fire zone and that these gases are not now passing through the parts of the mine in which the men sought refuge," Dr. Duschak's statement said.

He described results of sampling the gas coming up from the mine at the 2,400-foot level, which he said indicated the trapped miners had plnty of fresh air. The air analysis also shows, his statement declared, that there has been a slight diminution in the fire which shut off their escape.

Dreamer Plunges Right Through the Window

Earl L. Stevens, nineteen years old, of No. 27 Linden avenue, Somerville, visited his friend Frank Fitzgerald of Clarkson street, Field's Corner. He decided to stay overnight.

Earl had a dream during the night and stood up in bed. His pal awoke and asked him what was wrong. Earl awoke with such a start that he jumped from the bed through the window. He landed on the sidewalk eight feet below. When he reached the City Hospital he discovered bruises, cuts and abrasions too numerous to mention.

HELD IN $2,500 MAIL ORDER LETTER THEFT

After a two days' hearing Judge Creed, in municipal court, today continued until September 27 for disposition the case of Peter Turchon of No. 514 Audubon road, charged with the larceny of letters from the Easton Mail Order House, No. 1020 Washington street.

Turchon, who was president of the Mail Order company, was accused of stealing $8,427 original letters, valued at more than $2,500, and shipping them to New York. He admitted on the witness stand today that he stood to make a secret profit on the transaction.

The letters, it was charged, were taken during the absence of Alfred Goldstein, the treasurer, and without the knowledge of the other two members of the firm.

At a conference with Samuel Goldstein and Robert Goldstein, the other firm members, Turchon was quoted as saying he would get only from $30 to $40 for the letters. It was learned, however, that he actually received $643, working through a dummy.

—more than 300 of them (there's one near you) offer every facility for "stocking up" on Fall groceries of the finest quality—and at low prices which enormous buying power and our "Cash and Carry System" make possible.

Butter, eggs, tea, coffee, biscuits, potatoes, bread, cheese, flour, canned foods, milk, cream, etc.—you can get them all at any of the BROOKSIDE STORES—

And one call, at one place, is all you need to make. (Take notice, you who have been away for the Summer, and whose pantries are nearly empty.) Simply make out a list of what you'll need. Hand that list to our store manager. He will put up your order immediately if you wish. But if you desire to come back later, he'll have it ready.

Here's a good idea for wives whose husbands "drive" to business in the morning. Ask HIM to say to our store manager—"Have this order ready at 5:30 please, I'll call for it on my way home."

What does that ONE call—for EVERYTHING you need in groceries—mean to you? CONVENIENCE, does it not? No need of shopping here and there for this and that. And it also means ECONOMY—for the Brookside System of "Cash and Carry" eliminates expensive overhead, and bookkeeping, and deliveries—brings the finest procurable groceries to you at prices much lower than delivered groceries cost.

Brookside Stores will be happy to serve you this Fall and Winter. They really believe that they have something which you are looking for—not only in good groceries; but also in service, and money saved, and satisfaction.

Visit our store nearest to you. See what "Cash and Carry" is doing for your neighbors. Get acquainted with the marketing system that has revolutionized the old established order of distributing groceries, milk and cream to the public of New England.

PACKERS PLAN $536,000,000 MERGER

(Copyright, 1922, by Chicago Herald and Examiner)

Chicago, Sept. 15.—A huge merger of meat packing companies, involving at least two and possibly four of the "Big Five" packers, is in prospect. If consummated in its entirety, the deal will result in a $536,000,000 packing concern, headed by Armour & Co., and including Wilson & Co., Morris & Co., and the Cudahy Packing Corporation.

Negotiations have been on since early this year and now it appears that the two largest companies—Armour & Co. and Wilson & Co.—will be thrown together. Whether the Morris company or the Cudahy corporation join is considered a matter of small consequence.

Armour & Company will purchase the companies involved, largely, it is understood, through an exchange of securities. Mr. Armour will retire as the chairmanship of the board of directors, and Mr. Wilson will be named president.

Word that negotiations between Armour & Company and Wilson & Company were under way was printed several months ago. The principal obstacle to the deal, it is said, is the price asked by Mr. Wilson for his stock.

It is reported Mr. Armour offered in the neighborhood of $40 a share and that Mr. Wilson demanded $100, the approximate price at which the stock is carried in Wilson & Company's balance sheet. A compromise has been effected, it is said, by Mr. Armour offering in the neighborhood of $50 a share for the Wilson stock.

His Razor in Ring

J. DI CICCO

The rash barber who claimed the world's championship for quick hair cutting and shaving certainly started something. Every section of the city has put forth a challenger.

The latest to hurl his razor into the ring is John Di Cicco, who lives on Unity street but performs his artistry at No. 304 North street.

"Six minutes a record for a hair cut and shave!" snorted Johnny. "I can do it under five minutes! More than that, the customer will be perfectly satisfied and won't leave my shop looking like a soldier directly after a tough battle.

"If anybody thinks I am bluffing let him call me. I'll set up a chair right in the middle of North square and we'll go to it and settle the championship once and forever.

"That wouldn't be a bad scheme at all. Let all that want to enter the trials and we'll find out who the best and fastest barber is."

FAILED TO PAY ALIMONY, HALED INTO COURT

Dr. Benjamin Lewis, well-known Back Bay dentist, whose wife, Mrs. Mabel E. Lewis, of Winchester, divorced him a year ago for cruel and abusive treatment, was brought before Judge Walsh in the Middlesex Court on a complaint of his former wife, alleging he was $300 behind in his alimony payments. She asked that he be declared in contempt of court.

Dr. Lewis, at the time of the divorce, was ordered to pay $100 a month to Mrs. Lewis and their two children, custody of whom had been awarded her. She claimed that he had paid not over $40 monthly for some time, and said she could not support herself on that sum.

Dr. Lewis pleaded that his earnings have fallen off, and that he is not able to make full payments. Judge Walsh continued the contempt charge, ordering the dentist to make full back payments to his ex-wife by the first of the year, and adding that he would not allow a reduction in the alimony rate.

AUTO TIPS OVER, DRIVER ESCAPED

Brattleboro, Vt., Sept. 15.—Fral C. Clark, proprietor of the White Manufacturing handkerchief business, narrowly escaped serious injury when his automobile left the West River road as he was rounding a corner, smashed into a fence and then struck a tree with such force as to throw the car over on its side.

LAWRENCE BOY IS HELD AS 'PEEPER'

Lawrence, Sept. 15.—Accused of being one of the "Peeping Toms" who have infested the neighborhood of the General Hospital for months, sixteen-year-old Tony Rossello of No. 59 Springfield street, was surprised on the fire escape of the nurses' home during the evening and was taken into custody by the night watchman.

The watchman, as soon as he saw young Rossello prowling about the place, notified Dr. J. Nall of the hospital staff, and the two went out together. Another lad who accompanied Rossello, and whose identity is said to be known, escaped in the darkness.

Rossello is being held on a charge of delinquency.

Federal Income Tax Installment Is Due Today

Federal income taxpayers are reminded by Collector of Internal Revenue Malcolm E. Nichols that today is the last day allowed for payment of the third installment on these taxes. Taxpayers failing to fulfill this obligation today will be considered delinquent and will be penalized for their tardiness.

Collector Nichols expects that his office force today will handle more than 25,000 payments on this installment.

Remittances sent today by mail should be in sufficient time to bear the postmark of the 15th or they will be considered late.

MOONSHINER GETS 2 MONTHS' SENTENCE

Joseph Gordon of Walnut street, found by the police operating a big moonshine still in the cellar of the residence of James Wiles of Walnut street, Lexington, pleaded guilty in District Court at Concord, and was given a two-months' suspended sentence in the House of Correction.

KEITH CIRCUIT BANS JIBES AT HOLLYWOOD

New York, Sept. 15.—E. F. Albee, head of the Keith circuit, in a letter just sent out, bids actors stop poking fun at Hollywood or anything concerning controversies in the motion picture colony of the West Coast.

His letter, addressed to managers of vaudeville theatres and artists, says:

"I feel no institution should be condemned for the acts of a few of its employes or associates. It is bad enough to be obliged to withstand the criticism of the press and the general public, but when those who earn their livlihood in theatricals continue to irritate a condition of this kind it does not become us in any way."

Thoughts For Mothers Who Wish To Safeguard Their Families

There is a simple, inexpensive way that 500,000 mothers have of providing a safeguard against colds, coughs, bronchial troubles, croup, and catarrhal ailments. These ailments are not serious if given prompt attention — but many mothers neglect them and deer sore throat, pneumonia, diphtheria or influenza.

MENTHO LAXENE

"A stitch in time saves pins" is a version as it relates to a common cold. First symptoms of sore throat, nose discharge, etc., call for Mentho Laxene containing chaulmoora oil and other ingredients of many kind such medicines are not necessary—and may do more harm than good.

Devoted mothers save about $2.00, and make a note, of these medicine at home and avoid expense and anxiety. They purchase 2½ oz. of the super-concentrated Laxene Mentho Laxene, then steam a syringeful sugar and water and save a full cost of the very best cough syrup to be obtained at a cost of less than $1.00.

A few doses when a cold or cough first starts, soon checks it and drives it out of the system and the chances of pneumonia and other fatal or lingering diseases is avoided. Plain directions with the Laxene Mentho Laxene—as simple and easy that a child could make a full pint in less than 15 minutes. Good doctors and druggists recommend it.

THESE THREE WOMEN THINK ALIKE ABOUT DR. TRUE'S ELIXIR

Mrs. Elizabeth Clark of Springer St., South Boston, writes: "I have used Dr. True's Elixir, the True Family Laxative and Worm Expeller, and it has done me very much in regard to constipation. There is no laxative that could equal it."

Mrs. F. E. Smith, 112 Huntington Ave., Roslyn, writes: "I have been taking Dr. True's Elixir, the True Family Laxative, for constipation and find it to be more effective than anything I ever used."

Mrs. W. C. Curtis, Natick, R. I., says: "Dr. True's Elixir is the best family medicine we could get; I have always got relieved from indigestion."

Others have been helped by Dr. True's Elixir, the True Family Laxative, so why not you? Made of imported herbs of carefully pure quality. 40c—60c—$1.20.

POSTMASTER WORK VISITS BOSTON

Postmaster-General Hubert Work and Assistant John M. Bartlett were accorded a rousing reception at the Federal Building as they passed through Boston on their way to Portland, Me., today.

With their wives and with Postmaster Roland M. Baker and Mrs. Baker, the officials walked through the Postoffice Building, and at the Post Office Square door they were greeted by more than 600 employes of the Boston postal district.

Bartholomew Donovan, letter carrier, read a testimonial to General Work, which expressed the esteem in which he is held by the employes.

The committee of arrangements was made up of Thomas P. Feeney, registry department; Charles H. Nolton, letter carriers, and John L. Lavelly, clerks. Music was furnished by the Letter Carriers' Band.

After the reception the party went by motor to Postmaster Baker's Summer home at Aye, N. H.

BOSTON LEADS IN POSTAL SAVINGS GAIN

Washington, Sept. 15.—Postal savings deposits took an upward swing during August, despite heavy withdrawals in mining and railroad centres, according to the announcement by the Postoffice Department today.

The largest increase in deposits noted by any office was reported in Boston, where the August increase over July was $149,178. The second largest increase was in Brooklyn, N. Y. Pawtucket, R. I., was sixth on the list with a gain of $12,200. Other places showing smaller increases during the month were Norwood, Mass., Lynn, Mass., and Fall River, Mass.

FRIENDS OF INDIA PLAN MASS MEETING

Boston will observe the seventh Gandhi Day, and also commemorate the first anniversary of the imprisonment of the Ali brothers on Monday, September 18, at a mass meeting to be held at the Crystal Room of the Parker House at 8 p. m., under the auspices of the Friends of Freedom for India.

The speakers will be Swami Dhirenanda Giri, who just came to this country for a lecture tour on behalf of the Sat Sanga movement, organized by Swami Yogananda and Giri; Grenville S. MacFarland, John Orth and Nani Gopal Bose of the Friends of Freedom for India.

PROMOTE ARMY MAN, INVALID 25 YEARS

Ambrose Moriarty, who has been unable to stand erect for a quarter of a century, has been promoted from second lieutenant, retired, to captain, retired, by special act of Congress, he was informed by Miss A. Martin, the nurse who has attended him for eighteen years. After his graduation from West Point, in the same class with Brigadier-General M. L. Hersey, he contracted arthritis while on duty in Chicago in 1880 suppressing anarchistic demonstrations. He was then retired with pay of lieutenant, which has been insufficient to provide proper care. He is now in the hospital at Fort Banks.

NEW STEAMER LINE BREMEN TO NEW YORK

Washington, Sept. 15.—The White Star Line will inaugurate a new steamship service between Bremen and New York, via Southampton, early in November, according to a report received by the Department of Commerce from Carlton Hurst, vice consul at Bremen, Germany. The steamships Pittsburgh, 16,322 tons, and Canopic, 12,097 tons, have been engaged for the service. The first sailing will be by the Pittsburgh from New York after which a fortnightly service will be maintained.

ACTRESS TO EXHIBIT NEW PARIS GOWNS

MISS EVITA NUDSEN

Helen MacKeller, the stage star, and Nudsen, leading woman at the St. James Theatre, are sisters. They are half Scottish and half Danish. Miss Nudsen keeps her father's name and Miss MacKeller uses her mother's name.

Helen MacKeller has just returned from Paris and presented her delighted younger sister with half a dozen of the very latest wrinkles from the best French shops for stage wear at the St. James.

MIGOSH! NOW IT'S THE DIAPHRAGM

Thousands of deaths yearly could be prevented if persons realized the great importance of the diaphragm, according to Dr. Joel Goldthwaite, who spoke of the importance of this part of the anatomy before the convention of the American Physiotherapy Association.

Yawning, sighing and stretching are absolutely necessary, says the doctor, if life is to remain in the body. Thousands of deaths that have remained unexplained, Dr. Goldthwaite says, can be traced to the lack of the proper development of this diaphragm.

VERMONT MATRON IS WOMEN'S CLUB HEAD

The election of officers was the most important feature of the three-day conference of New England States Federation of Women's Clubs at the New Ocean House, Swampscott. Mrs. Robert E. Smith, White River Junction, Vt., was elected conference chairman.

Others elected were: Vice-president, Mrs. Harry A. Burnham, Bideford, Me.; secretary-treasurer, Miss Alice L. Dodge, Melrose Highlands.

LYNN MEN ARRESTED IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

Manchester, N. H., Sept. 15.—Following identification by a police inspector from Peabody, Mass., of the automobile supplies found in the possession of two young men here, Edwin Taylor and Sydney Stevens of Lynn will be turned over to Lynn authorities. The stock was said to be part of that stolen from the Wilson Auto Station of Peabody.

Barnyard Inmates Go on Wild Revel on Mash

Nashua, N. H., Sept. 15.—Ten gallons of mash, dumped into a barnyard of Joseph Greco of this city by Federal inspectors, provided a whole flock of geese, ducks and chickens with enough "kick" to send them cackling and staggering about the farm in riotous glee. Federal Officers D. J. Lorden, Floyd C. Eddy and Norman Howe vouch for the facts.

No sooner had the mash been dumped when the fowl, with apparent eagerness, fell upon it. Hissing geese, quacking ducks and cackling hens soon were engaged in a wild barnyard revel. Ganders, missing their mates, made love to roosters, who returned the attentions, ducks and hens fought for the privilege of sitting on the same china egg, and it wasn't until darkness settled on the land and the fowl staggered to their roosts to sleep it off that quiet was restored.

MINISTERS TO HOLD "DRY" RALLY MONDAY

Ministers of Greater Boston will hold a rally in Pilgrim Hall Monday at 9:30 a. m. for the better enforcement of the prohibitory law. The rally will be held in connection with one held by the Anti-Saloon League.

CHARGE AGAINST DAUGHERTY IN COMMITTEE

Washington, Sept. 15 (By International News Service).—Charges upon which Representative Oscar F. Keller, Republican, of Minnesota, based his impeachment proceedings against Attorney-General Daugherty will be heard tomorrow by the House Judiciary Committee, it was announced today by Representative Volstead. The committee chairman, Keller, will appear before the committee to present evidence in support of his charge that Daugherty has violated the Constitution.

The committee is expected to decide tomorrow whether the charges are to be dropped, dealing with them immediately or postponed until the next session of Congress.

Keller is understood to be prepared to contend that the next move in the proceedings is for the committee to decide whether the charges he has presented against the Attorney-General, if provable and accurate, are grounds for a formal impeachment. Keller insists his charges are sufficient. After the committee reached a decision on this point, Keller will be heard and given an opportunity to present his evidence.

"THREE-IN-ONE" NOW FOR THE FAIR SEX

Somebody has invented a new one to take the place of women's varied assortment of lingerie. It is called a "netherall," and is for all the world like the hitch that a fireman has waiting beside his bunk in the firehouse.

The "netherall" is a three-in-one garment, and replaces the corset, the brassiere and the vest. It has become popular and its proponents aver that the day of assorted lingerie is gone.

$20,000 BAIL FOR "TUG" WILSON'S PAL

"Jackie" Sullivan, "Tug" Wilson's side-kick, was arraigned today in the Middlesex Superior Criminal Court before Judge Franklin P. Hammond on three secret indictments charging respectively larceny, robbery with a gun and perjury. He was brought to Boston from Portsmouth, N. H., where he was arrested for stealing an auto. He pleaded not guilty and was held in bail of $20,000.

Policeman's $5,000 Car Gets Him in Trouble

Washington, Sept. 15.—Sergeant John W. Greene, known as Washington's "Millionaire Policeman," is in trouble. He will face the police trial board Saturday on a charge of "gross neglect of duty." The specific charge is that he has been patrolling his beat in his $5,000 car instead of afoot.

Greene is said to have a fortune approaching half a million dollars.

EVICTIONS ARE CONDEMNED AS DISGRACE

Washington, Sept. 15.—Charges of union officials that 5,000 miners' families had been evicted by operators in the Connellsville, Pa., coal fields were aired in the Senate this afternoon by Senator Watson, Democrat, Georgia.

Watson declared the situation in the Pennsylvania field was a disgrace to the country. His statement drew a reply from Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, who declared evictions were not the general policy of Pennsylvania operators.

TOAD HOUSE FIGURES IN FIGHT OVER WILL

Taunton, Sept. 15.—Whether Harriet B. Winchew of Norton, who built a toad house there, and held conversations with birds and toads, was of sound mind when she made her will, leaving the bulk of a $70,000 estate to Mrs. Agusta B. Priest, who lived with her, is the main point at issue in a contest over the will.

Dr. John J. Thompson, senior assistant at the Taunton State Hospital, in testifying, stated that if Miss Winchew had though she conversed with toads and built a house for them she was "psychotic." He would not state that she was of unsound mind. In his opinion, spiritualists who believe they hear voices are psychotic, but not of unsound mind.

It is charged Mrs. Priest obtained the legacy through fraud and undue influence.

AMERICAN RADIO SECRET MAY END WARS

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 15.—Transmission of electric power by radio!

Will this dream of scientists be fulfilled today?

Will the completion of tests made before a group of engineers mean that wars of the future will be next to impossible by reason of the United States being possessed of a secret that will enable them to blow up forts and powder magazines hundreds of miles distant?

Wallace F. Vail, president of the United States Radio Corporation, announced that a test would be made immediately of sending direct electric power by means of a radio transmitter, upon which their engineers have been working for the past six months.

Patents have been applied for on initial forms of the transmitter, Vail announced, declaring that the experiment was in the nature of a test to convince competent authorities that his company had finally discovered the much-sought after idea.

PULMOTOR LOSES IN FIGHT TO SAVE BABY

For the first time on record in Boston, a pulmotor was used on a new-born infant in an effort to keep it alive. The experiment was tried at the Commonwealth Hospital, where four and a quarter quarts of oxygen were pumped into the lungs of the new born child of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Donovan, No. 42 Winthrop street. After three hours' work with the pulmotor of Rescue Company No. 1, Dr. William J. Whitney announced that it was hopeless.

W'EYMOUTH-BOUND SHIP GOES ASHORE

Kittery, Me., Sept. 15.—The four-masted schooner Maynard of Boston went ashore here just after it had passed through the draw of the Portsmouth-Kittery bridge. The schooner is loaded with a cargo of fertilizer for Weymouth, Mass. Efforts of two tugs to draw the ship into deep water were unavailing. No damage was reported.

BIG INTERESTS MEET TO LOWER PRICE OF COAL

Washington, Sept. 15.—Downward readjustment of coal prices was sought today at a general conference here attended by representatives of business, industries, railways and public utilities.

The purpose of the conference, called at the suggestion of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States was outlined by Secretary Hoover. He said coal movement must be greatly facilitated and hastened to prevent hardship this Winter.

Secretary Hoover called for a united front by industrial consumers generally to prevent "gouging" by the coal industry. Industry, he said, can aid in reducing coal prices by not laying in stocks of coal that are not necessary.

The danger of frantic bidding by consumers in competition with each other was cited by Hoover as an aid to the coal profiteer.

SURE, HE'S FIRE HEAD! SEE HIS GOLD BADGE!

Fire Commissioner Theodore Glynn was refused admission into the fire lines.

He did not have a fire badge.

So Mayor Curley has made him a present of a solid gold fire badge, inscribed fire commissioner, with the seal of Boston on the face, his name engraved on back.

Mr. "Commish" attended several fires but at the last one an officer barred his way. He explained that he was the commissioner and was told to stop his "kidding and stay outside the lines." He did.

MAY PASS TARIFF BILL TOMORROW

Washington, Sept. 15.—With the dye embargo licensing provision and the potash duty eliminated, the administration tariff bill was back again today before the House. Managers of the measure looked for adoption of the conference report after comparatively brief discussion. It was the plan to send the bill to the Senate immediately after the House voted, and it was hoped to get it before the Senate this afternoon. Majority leaders thought final action might be had before adjournment tomorrow.

FINDS MAN'S BODY IN GRAVE OF WIFE

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 15.—Discovery of the body of a man in the grave where that of his wife was supposed to be is prompting Sebastino Rocina of this city to sue the Greenwood Cemetery Association for $10,000 damages for alleged negligence.

Rocina's wife, Laura, died in 1918, and Rocina purchased a single grave for her burial. About a year later he purchased a family plot and arranged to have his wife's body transferred. When the grave was opened a man's body was found.

ALCOHOL DEATHS ON INCREASE IN N. Y.

New York, Sept. 16.—Deaths from alcoholism are increasing here, Dr. Royal S. Copeland, Commissioner of Health, said today. During the first eight months of this year there were 169 deaths from alcoholism as compared with 119 during the whole of last year.

During the first eight months of this year there were also five deaths from wood alcohol poisoning and five from grain alcohol poisoning.

MILL STRIKERS WIN AT EXETER, N. H.

Exeter, N. H., Sept. 16.—Complete surrender to the textile strikers is announced by officials of the Exeter Manufacturing Company, who said that the mill will next week resume work on the old pay and time schedules. This means that the 20 per cent. wage cut will be abolished and that the forty-eight-hour week will be restored. About 300 employes are affected.

SOUSA SAYS DRY LAW IS A TRAGEDY

Hartford, Ct., Sept. 15.—Bandmaster Sousa says prohibition is a tragedy. He regrets the increase in women drinking and would license every man who drinks.

Sued for Milk Bill

REV. WM. SCARRITT

RAID 13 STILLS RUN BY STOLEN ROXBURY GAS

Charges of stealing 119,096 cubic feet of illuminating gas, valued at $349.79, with which they operated thirteen stills, were preferred today against three men arrested in a raid at No. 71 Howard street, Roxbury.

They were Anthony Chanchalo, Stanley R. Murray and Enrico Capello, who after arraignment before U. S. Commissioner Hayes were taken to the Roxbury Court to face additional charges of keeping and exposing liquor.

According to Special Officer Frederick G. Higgins, the men tapped the main pipe line of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company and without the formality of obtaining a meter, procured gas for their stills.

The raid, made by revenue officers, was said to have uncovered the largest and most completely equipped moonshine plant ever seized in New England. It was located in a two and one-half story building on the old Gerard estate that was cleverly camouflaged as vacant.

MINISTER CAN'T RECALL $105 MILK BILL

The Rev. William Scarritt returned from Bermuda to find that he was being sued for failing to pay his milk bill.

But the Reverend Scarritt denies all knowledge of any such bill. "I may owe that comany money and I may not. I certainly don't know," he told reporters. "My son has been handling all my affairs and will take care of the court action for me."

The Rev. Mr. Scarritt was formerly conected with the Church of the Advent and with the Hingham Episcopal Church. He is now a retired minister. His home it at No. 182 Commonwealth avenue, this city.

He is connected with the Episcopal diocese of Atlanta and has been temporarily supplying Episcopal churches in the diocese of Massachusetts.

The Deerfoot Farm Company brought the suit against him for a bill of $105.93.

"My son, William R. Jr., a Water street lawyer, has been attending to my affairs since I went to Bermuda," the minister said. "Since my return I have been so busy that I haven't taken any notice of my business affairs. If I do owe this bill it will be attended to by my son.

GERMANY TO BUILD BIG ZEPPELIN FOR U.S.

Belleville, Ill., Sept. 15. —Major Frank M. Kennedy, who has been stationed at Scott Field, departed for Germany today where he will supervise the construction of a great Zeppelin that is to be built by Germany for the United States. The airship will be ready in about a year, and it is proposed to sail her from Germany to the United States.

CITY PLANNING BOARD TO HOLD FIRST SESSION

The first "get acquainted" meeting of Mayor Curley's city planning committee of two hundred will take place at the Copley Plaza Hotel a week from today at 1 o'clock. A luncheon will be served.

Plans for the expenditure of between $25,000,000 to $50,000,000 in improvements will be informally discussed. Presidents of Harvard College and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, together with the engineering staffs of both institutions have been invited, as well as the Mayor and City Council of Cambridge and their engineering force.

Items to be talked over are for a new radical highway for the city, a new Boston-Cambridge bridge to replace the present Harvard Bridge, Province street widening and other streets. Transportation problems and the possibilities of outlining bills for the incoming Legislature to act upon in the much-needed improvements.

British Women Wage Fight for More Parliament Seats

London, Sept. 15.—Women of England are preparing an intensive campaign to secure more women members of Parliament.

They are satisfied with Lady Astor and Mrs. Wintringham, but want more women in the House of Commons to keep these two from feeling lonesome. They have now formed a committee to embrace all parties, except the Communist, and call it the Women's Election Committee.

DISTRESS IN RUSSIA TO BE BROADCASTED

Conditions in Russia, where 100,000 refugees are in dire need of assistance, will be broadcasted by radio from the Medford Hillside station Monday evening. This announcement was made by the committee of the Emergency Fund for Russian Refugees in Constantinople and the Balkan States. More money is needed to carry on the work already started, according to Mrs. Jasper Whiting, a member of the organization.

NEW FILM FIRM CONTROLLED BY WOMEN

New York, Sept. 15.—The first motion picture company officered and controlled by women has been formed here.

It is called the Dramus Producing and Releasing Company, Inc. Mrs. David Allen Campbell, president, is editor of The Musical Monitor and a member of the National Council of Women; Mrs. Nagene Furst is vice-president; Mrs. Esther R. Abbott, secretary and treasurer. Mrs. Abbott founded the Children's Hospital of Denver.

Mrs. Sydney Farrar.

Mrs. Sydney Farrar, mother of Geraldine Farrar, is chairman of the board of governors.

EDWARDS REVIEWS TROOPS AT DEVENS

Major-General Clarence R. Edwards reviewed regular army troops at Camp Devens today. He reviewed the 5th and 13th Infantry, the 7th Field Artillery and a squadron of the 3d Cavalry.

After the review the general paid the regular army, the national guard and the citizens' training camps.

After this month the 5th Infantry will go to Fort Williams, Portland, to be hereafter its permanent station; the 13th Infantry is assigned to coast defense around Boston, while the 13th Infantry and 3d Squadron of Cavalry go to Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont.

SEEKS DIVORCE FOR "OTHER WOMAN'S" 5 CHILDREN

GIVES UP CLAIM ON HUSBAND

Dedham Wife Pities Plight of Kiddies Denied Home and Legal Name

Five small children, whose father deserted their mother after living with her without a marriage ceremony for more than seven years, will be given a chance for a name and an honorable home by the action of his legal wife, who told the Boston American today she was going to sue for divorce.

The real wife is Mrs. Caroline Gleason of East Dedham. She declares that she is going to get the divorce solely so that her husband, Herbert Gleason, may wed Victoria Boucher, mother of his five children.

Mrs. Gleason did not know of the existence of Miss Boucher until a few days ago. She had not seen her husband for years, and had been obliged to work in a Dedham mill to support herself and her nine-year-old son, Edward. Locating him by chance in a South End rooming house, where he was living with the other woman and the children she had borne him, Mrs. Gleason had him brought into the Dedham court for non-support.

LEARNS OF "OTHER WOMAN."

When Gleason was ordered to pay his wife $5 a week, Mrs. Gleason first learned of the Boucher woman's existence. Instantly she announced she would renounce all claim on her husband so that Miss Boucher and the children might have him.

She now supplements this declaration with the statement that she will secure a divorce as soon as possible.

Mrs. Gleason is young and comely, and has received many invitations from young men of her acquaintance to go to parties, dances and the like. But she refuses them all. She explained her attitude as follows:

"I am a wife. So long as I am married, I must live up to the rules of wifehood. It is the duty of a parent to a child. My conscience will not let me do anything which can cast reflection on my boy, so I have stayed at home like an old woman.

"My boy knows nothing about his father. He calls his grandfather 'daddy,' and does not suspect that he has scarcely seen his real father.

"We have wonderful neighbors. They respect us so much that they have kept their own children in ignorance of what Edward's father has done, so that news of it will never get to Edward."

Gleason, according to his wife, left her at repeated intervals shortly after their marriage, ten years ago, and finally deserted her for good. The wife has never seen her husband's other children, but she declares she has nothing but compassion for them.

"They are children like my own boy. Every child has a right to happiness, no matter how much his parents may be to blame. Neither do I blame the woman, for I believe she thought herself properly married to Herbert."

GRANITE STATE WOMEN OUT FOR THE HOUSE

Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 15.—Two women, nominated by the Democrats in Rockingham County as candidates for Representatives to the Legislature, are ready for a vigorous campaign. Mrs. Gertrude Moran Caldwell is the first and only woman to receive the honor in Portsmouth. She was nominated in Ward 1 and says she is going to be elected if campaigning will do it.

Mrs. Caldwell says the women of her party have been ignored long enough by the male voters of her ward, and she didn't hesitate to say so. The ward committee said if she wanted to go into the fight she was welcome and her campaign is on.

The other woman nominated for the House is Mrs. John Bartlett of Raymond.

NOTED CAFES IN CODE BOOK OF RUM SHIP

By Universal Service.

New York, Sept. 15.—Prohibition enforcement authorities today undertook to find out the scope of the recent liquor-distributing activities of the British two-masted fishing schooner M. M. Gardner, seized just before dawn by an armed vessel of the dry navy off Scotland Lightship.

Besides $56,000 in cash and 100 cases in liquor, the raiding officers, it is said, found aboard the schooner code books in which were noted the names of prominent cafe and hotel keepers along Broadway and at Atlantic City, Asbury Park, Long Branch and other Atlantic coast resorts.

Captain M. C. Dette of Lunenberg, Nova Scotia, commander of the vessel, denied that his ship was engaged in rum-running, and explained that he was just returning from the island of St. Pierre, which is about 15 miles off Newfoundland, where he had landed 4,000 cases of liquor shipped from the Bahamas. He protested against the action of the government's officers, as he maintained he was outside the three-mile limit.

The money, liquor and crew were taken into custody by the Federal authorities pending the investigation.

CURLEY GIVES WAR VET $3,000 JOB

Mayor Curley has appointed John L. MacDonald, former State commander of the Veteran's of Foreign Wars, to be secretary of the Committee for Americanization, to succeed John F. Dowd, who will be transferred to the Mayor's office as an assistant secretary. The salary is $3,000.

His appointment to the Americanization committee does not require Civil Service examination. Mr. MacDonald was the first head of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and was also elected for a second term. He served with Co. A, 30th Infantry, 3rd division, during the war. He was twice cited for heroism on the Marne where he was gassed and wounded. He is married and lives with his family at No. 67 Summer street, Dorchester. He takes office a week from today.

CHILD IS KILLED UNDER MOTOR TRUCK

Pawtucket, R. I., Sept. 15.—Six-year-old Clara Shaw ran from behind a trolley car on Brook street directly in the path of a motor truck driven by Horace French of this city. The driver was unable to avoid striking the child and when he picked her from beneath the vehicle she was dead. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shaw, Jr., of Yorke avenue. French was not arrested.

GETS LOCKET MOTHER SENT TO FRANCE 1917

Elizabeth, N. J., Sept. 15.—A gold locket sent in 1917 by Mrs. E. S. Hersh to her son, Robert, a soldier in France, was returned by mail from an unknown source. Robert got a letter postmarked from a town in France. There was no signature, but wrapped in tissue paper was the locket.

NOTED HORSEWOMAN DAZED BY LIGHTNING

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Mrs. Gertrude Adland, once nationally prominent for her horsemanship, was knocked to the floor in her home when lightning struck a chimney, ran down to the kitchen stove and prostrated her. She suffered a severe nervous shock.

Princess Cantacuzene Coming to Nahant for Visit, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

A TALL, stately blonde is the Princess Cantacuzene, Jr., who is expected to make a long Autumn visit with her parents, the "Tom" Pelham Curtises, at their Summer place in Nahant.

All this Summer the Curtises have been living in town at their Winter domicile on Beacon street, while "Pelham Clare," the Nahant estate, has been occupied by the Clarks. For the Fall months, however, the former Frances Small and her husband are to be at Nahant.

I recall distinctly a year ago last June, when "Pelham Clare" was gaily en fete for the all important ceremony which transformed Clarissa Curtis into the bride of young Prince Michael Cantacuzene, Harvard '21. The wedding was solemnized at the quaint little Nahant church, and was followed with a "bang up" reception at the Curtis place.

The fromer Clarissa Curtis certainly made a lovely bride. She is tall, rather regal looking, and has a crown of wonderful golden hair. The Prince presents a striking contrast, for he is very dark, with black hair and eyes and an olive complexion. The marriage of the young people took place just a few days after Prince Michael obtained his sheepskin from Harvard, and it was really a very distinguished affair, for it attracted a host of notables from New York and the capital.

I UNDERSTAND that the young Princess' mother has been greatly missed in Nahant this Summer, where she is president of the Nahant Women's League of Voters. She did, however, come out to preside at the mid-Summer meeting held at the home of Mrs. Wallace Williams, when she was accompanied by her daughter.

There are few women in Boston who did more, or as much, for the suffrage cause than did Mrs. Curtis. She seemed to have put her whole life into the business of obtaining "votes for women," and it was her voice which was heard at countless campaign rallies in the hotly fought battle between the "yellows" and the "reds."

THOUGH Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, Eliot Wadsworth, has been making his home in Washington of recent years, he still retains his membership in the Somerset, Tennis and Racquet, Country and Exchange Clubs here, and Boston follows his comings and goings with no little interest.

There was indeed, a very considerable flutter, when the smart set here learned some two months ago of his marriage to Mrs. Nancy Scull, widow of Major Guy H. Scull. Major Scull had been his boyhood companion, his classmate at Harvard and lifelong friend.

The marriage was performed by the Suffragan Bishop Herbert Shipman in the Church of the Heavenly Rest, New York. The honeymoon was spent in Gloucester, where, shortly before his marriage, Mr. Wadsworth had purchased the H. P. Davison estate.

Now I hear that he has leased for the coming year a residence in Washington at No. 1634 Twenty-eighth street, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Warren Delano Robins, who are now in Berlin, where Mr. Robins is attached to the United States embassy.

AMONG the Bostonians who have joined the Autumn colony at Lenox are Mr. and Mrs. L. Tucker Burr, the latter formerly Alice Peters, who are registered at the Hotel Curtis.

The Burrs have only recently returned from a long absence abroad, and their many friends have been tendering them the warmest of welcomes ever since they came back to these shores. I believe that they have taken a house in Milton for the coming season.

THE Bayard Tuckermans have had as their guests at their Ipswich Summer place their daughter, Mrs. Evans Dick, Jr., and her children, of White Marsh, Pa. Their son and daughter-in-law, the Bayard Tuckermans, Jr., (Phyllis Sears) were among the notable exhibitors at the Myopia horse show last week.

Paulo Valley, Okla., Sept. 15.—William M. Meyers, who with his wife and year-old baby was walking from McKinney, Tex., to Versailles, Ill., killed his wife because she refused to go further.

BABY IS KILLED AS CHILDREN START CAR

Larchmont, N. Y., Sept. 15.—When a driverless automobile containing three children plunged into a telegraph pole, Robert Burbank, five months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Burbank, suffered injuries resulting in death.

Mrs. Burbank left the car standing in Main street while she went into a store. In the automobile were the infant, Robert; Betty, five, and William, eight, all Burbank children.

CONGRESSMAN WANTS TO KNOW CIDER'S STATUS

By Universal Service.

Washington, Sept. 15.— Is the farmer permitted, under the Volstead law, to possess cider, allow it to ferment and become intoxicating, consume it on his own premises, or "give it to his friends when they drop in?"

Representative Hill, of Maryland, wants to know, and he has addressed his inquiry to the Maryland Anti-Saloon League, which is said to have so interpreted the Volstead Act.

It is Mr. Hill's complaint that while citizens of Maryland are being arrested for possessing 2.75 per cent beer, the farmer of the state is granted special privileges.

The Federal Prohibition Commission has ruled, however, that neither the Federal Congress or the courts have as yet decided what alcoholic content renders cider and other fruit juices intoxicating. Hill wants the conflict between the Federal Prohibition Commission and the Anti-Saloon League of Maryland straightened out for the benefit of his constituents.

BROKER'S CLERK AND $100,000 VANISH

New York, Sept. 15.—Defalcations of more than $100,000 have been discovered by Jerome J. Danzig and company, stock brokers, simultaneously with the disappearance of a trusted head clerk.

So Jerome J. Danzig, head of the firm, informed District Attorney Banton today. He asked that the complaint be presented to the grand jury. Assistant District Attorney Schneber said he would present the charges on Monday.

The missing clerk, Mr. Danzig said, is Henry P. Gage, forty-four. He has been in charge of the firm's clerks for fifteen years.

Leo Oppenheimer, attorney for Danzig, said that, although the investigation was not complete, indications are that the shortage is not greatly in excess of the bond given for Gage by the National Surety company.

GIRL STUDENT GETS ESTATE OF $100,000

Northampton, Sept. 15.—Miss Virginia V. Hart of Manchester, N. H., a student at Smith College, has been named as chief beneficiary in the estate of the late George W. Corliss, estimated at more than $100,000. Relatives of the dead man received only minor amounts.

SQUARES MATTERS WITH JOB

Now Wife Sues for Divorce After Rumors of Wild Life With Other Woman

New York Sept. 15 Paying ident attention to the young nd pretty wife of an office ork and, after winning her de otion, "squaring matters" ng the husband he making m a partner in the busi ess, is the chief allegation contained in an action for separa ion and alimony brought by Mrs. Veronica E. H. Good bridge, widely known in Long Island society circles, against her husband, William E. Good bridge, a prominent insurance broker. The other two figures in this domestic quadrangle are Lawrence P. Beatty and his wife, Mrs. Jeannette Beatty.

LOOKED AFTER WIFE.

Shortly after meeting Mrs. Beatty, Mrs. Goodridge charges, the insurance broker took a great interest in her welfare and in July, 1920 Goodridge arranged a trip to Europe for Beatty. Later at a farewell dinner given in honor of Beatty's departure the court petition relates Goodridge made a speech in which he urged that good care of his fellow wife and she [illegible] during her husband's absence.

Attached to the petition are copies of the pair to Atlantic City and a number of bills from fashionable shops and leading night resorts in New York with frequent references to the fair Mrs. Beatty's charms as favored, Mrs. Goodridge alleges.

FIXED UP HUSBAND.

During several months her husband's relationships were brought to her attention, Mrs. Goodridge says she confronted Goodridge with the society rumored information and threatened she would sue Mrs. Beatty for alienation of affections.

It was then that the insurance broker reported, the wife charged, he had assured documents with Beatty's husband and there was nothing to fear from that quarter as he was making him a partner in business.

Payments of $1,000 a month and $2,000 a year, he asked by Mrs. Goodridge

WEDS DAUGHTER OF SENATOR HARDY

Huntington, Sept. 15.—Miss Marguerite Hardy, daughter of State Senator Leonard F. Hardy, was married to Clyfton Chandler, son of Mrs. Harold L. Chandler of Plymouth at a brilliant ceremony at the Federated Church of Huntington. The Rev. Irving Childs officiated.

Following the ceremony with its wealth of floral decorations a reception was held at the home of the bride. The couple slipped away for a honeymoon while festivities were in progress after announcing the acquisition of a "love nest" in Newtonville.

The maid of honor was Miss Adele Chandler, sister of the groom, and James Gregg of Cambridge officiated as best man. An entourage of bridesmaids, flower girls and ring bearers together with over two hundred guests, including State and City dignitaries, extended congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Chandler.

DENIES "DRY" ERA MADE MANY IDLE

Arthur J. Davis, superintendent of the Massachusetts Anti-Saloon League, today denied the charges contained in resolutions of the Boston Central Labor Union which referred to the loss of employment caused by prohibition. Superintendent Davis said that prohibition has done much for the former workers in the liquor business, and all the productive businesses of the country are being increased.

HARDING IS CHIEF OF WHITE HOUSE POLICE

Washington, Sept. 15.—A White House police force is created under a bill signed by President Harding. The measure transfers from the District of Columbia police department thirty-three men who have been on duty in the White House grounds. The President will be the nominal head of the new organization.

KU KLUX KLAN BRAND 'K' ON VICTIM'S FACE

Chambersburg, Pa., Sept. 15—William Hollingsworth, a laborer, of Waynesboro, seventeen miles from here, who was taken out Wednesday night and castrated by masked men robed in white like the Ku Klux Klan, and the letter "K" branded on each cheek and his forehead, was at his home today recovering from the attack. He was brandished with a revolver that is not expected to leave scars.

There is no clew to the identity of the 15 or 20 men Hollingsworth said attacked him.

Hollingsworth said he was taken to a field at Smithsburg, near the Maryland line, and branded because he is alleged to have cruelly treated his mother, who is now in the poorhouse in Chambersburg. His hair was cut in a grotesque manner and one side of his mustache was cut off.

When he denied he had cruelly treated his mother he was beaten with sticks. A rope was tied about his neck, Hollingsworth said, and there was talk among his attackers of hanging him. The white-robed men left him in the field and he found his own way home.

NAB MAN WITH BIG "ROLL" WORTH 30C.

Clinton, N. J., Sept. 15—When Sergeant Oswald Varotori saw a man smoothing out a roll of bills six inches in circumference here he stopped and decided "Croesus" would bear questioning.

At headquarters the roll proved to be 1,500,000 Russian rubles, 427,000 Polish kronen and 8,000 German marks. Morris Cohan of Manhattan, the owner, said he had come to Clifton trying to sell the money.

After raking over every law book in their possession, Chief Coughlin and Detective Captain Battel found no law on which they could hold Cohen. Those who thought they had the patriotic notion of Cohen's wealth in United States coin quit at the rubles, which the figured worth about 30 cents.

CANNOT FIND MAN TO HANG SLAYER

St. John, N. B., Sept. 15.—Because the sheriff cannot get an executioner, Rennie Swim, sentenced to be hanged for the murder of Olive Swim Tronbolme, has gained a reprieve for three weeks. In asking Chief Justice McKeown to grant a postponement of the execution, Sheriff Foster of Carleton county said that one man he had engaged to spring the trap had been discharged by the Department of Justice; another is hurt in an automobile accident and the only other professional executioner in the whole Dominion of Canada lives in British Columbia.

START THIS NEW STORY TODAY

Sir Nicholas Thormonde, a wealthy Englishman, wounded and blinded in one eye in action, starts writing his diary in Paris while the war is still on He is sick of life. The war has robbed it of all that a young man can find of joy. He tries to amuse himself in the company of several women friends, who, he feels, seek his company for his money and not for the love he craves. He considers writing a book.

Now Go On With the Story

I RATHER incline to a treatise upon altruism and the philosophical subjects in the book that I shall write. I fear if I wrote a novel it would be saturated by my ugly spirit, and I should hate people to read it. I must get that part of me in my journal, but a book about—Altruism?

I must have a stenographer of course, a shorthand typist, if I do begin this thing. There are some English ones here, no doubt. I do not wish to write in French—Maurice must find me a suitable one—I won't have anything young and attractive, in my idiotic state she might get the better of me! The idea of some steady employment quite bucks me up.

* * * * *

I felt rather jarred when I arrived at the Hotel Courville—he paving across the river is bad; but I found my way to the Duchesse's own sitting room on the first floor—the only room apparently left not a ward—and somehow the smell of carbolic had not penetrated here. It was too hot, and only a little window was open

How wonderfully beautiful these eighteenth century rooms are! What grace and charm in the panellings—what dignity in the proportions! This one, like all rooms of women of the Duchesse's age, is too full—crammed almost, with gems of art and then among them, her and there, a shocking bad satin stuffed and buttoned armchair with a bit of woodwork down its centre, and some fringe! And her writing table—the famous one given by Louis XV to the actresses, who refused his favors—a mass of letters and papers, and opposite a bottle of creosote and a feather!

A servant in black, verging upon 90, brought in the tea, and said Madame la Duchesse would be there immediately—and she came.

Her twinkling eyes kindly as ever, "Good day, Nicholas," she said, and kissed me on both cheeks. "Thou art thy mother's child—Va!—and I thank thee for the 50,000 francs for my Blesses—I say no more—Va!"

Her scissors got caught in her pocket, not the purple jersey this time, and she played with them for a minute.

"Thou art come for something—out with it!"

"Shall I write a book? that's it. Maurice thinks it might divert me. What do you think?"

"One must consider," and she began pouring out the tea, "paper is dear—I admit, my son, if what you would inscribe upon it would justify the waste—but still—as a distinction—an aspective so to speak—perhaps—yes On what subject?"

"That is what I want your advice about, a novel?—or a study upon Altruism, or—or—something like that"

She chuckled and handed me my tea, thin tea and a tiny slice of black bread, and a scrape of butter. There is no cheating the regulations here, but the Sevres cup gave me satisfaction

"You have brought me your bread coupon I hope?" she interrupted with—"if you eat with out it out of my household has tea!"

I produced it

"Two days old will do here," then she became all interest in my project again and chuckled anew.

"Not a novel, my son, at your age and with your temperament. It would arouse emotions in you if you created them in your characters; you are better without them No! Something serious altruism as we'll as another, by all means"

"I expected you to say that you are always so practical and kind, then we will choose a research to keep me busy"

"Why not the Archives of Blanchemore your old county where the Thormondes have sat since the conquest—bein?"

This delighted me, but I saw the impossibility. "I cannot get at the necessary reference books and it is impossible to receive anything from England"

She grasped this before I spoke

"No—philosophy it must be—or your pet hobby, the furniture of your William and Mary"

This seemed the best of all, and I decided in a moment. This shall be my subject. I really know something of William and Mary furniture! So we settled it. Then she became reflective

"The news of the great battle today my son she whispered softly "the fearful ones predict that the Boche will be with us range in a few days Why not leave Paris

"Are you going, Duchesse?

"I—Mon Dieu—I—I—I—no—no I must stay to get my Blesses out—if the worst should come—but I never believe it.—Let the cowards flee—. Some of my relatives have gone. Those I speak to will have become a memory when peace arrives, it would seem" —then she frowned angrily "Many are so splendid—devoted, un-like, but there are some—I—Mon Dieu! the great pay taxes at the tax a.x pigeons and the Germans are 60 kilometers from Paris"

I did not speak, and then, as though I had said something disparaging and she must defend them—"But you must not judge them harshly—No—it is not possible with our national temperament that young girls of the world do nurse men—No—No—and our country of war won't employ women—what can they do—ask yourself, what can they do—I tell you I am prag! Other nations may not judge us—our men know what they want of us—yes yes—"

"Of course they do."

"My niece Madeleine—a lighthead—dragged me to the Ritz to lunch last week, before the wild rush cleared them off again—Mon Dieu! what a sight there in that restaurant!—Olivier and the waiters are the only things of dignity left in Paris—women dressed to the eyes as Red Cross nurses. Some Americans and Yes, French—nursing the wellborn officers I must believe—no nearer wounded than that—trailing veils, painted lips, high heels—Heavens! it filled me with rage—I who know the devoted and good of both nations who are not seen, and you English——.

But then it is easy for you with your temperament to be good and really work—France is full of sensible kind Americans and English—but those in Paris—they make me sick! Quarter of an hour twice a day—to have the right to a passport to come—and to wear a uniform—Pah! Sick, sick!—"

The Duchesse was still angry.

"My nephew Charles, le Prince de Vimont, eats chicken and cutlets, on the meatless days," he told me with pride, his maitre d'hotel—he is one of the ones—like thou, Nicholas is able to procure plenty on the day before from friends in the trade and with ease—Mon Dieu—and I pay twenty-eight francs apiece for the best poulets for my Blesses for extra rations—and be impossible to procure— Oh! I would pull them all choke them with their own feathers—I say they which would be "food for the guns" as you English say,—they, these few disgrace our brave France, and make the other nations laugh at us"

I tried to assure her that no one laughed, and that we all understood and admired the spirit of France, that it was only the few and that we were proud decented, but I could not calm her

"It makes me weep" at last she said and I could not comfort her

Heloise de Tavannes—my Cousin's new daughter-in-law—paid four thousand francs for a new evening dress, which did not cover a tenth of her fat body. Four thousand francs would have given my Blesses—Ah!—well—I rage, I rage"

Then she checked herself—"But why do I say this to thee Nicholas?—because I am sore—it is ever thus—we are all human and must cry to someone."

So after all there is some meaning in my journal.

"One must cry to someone."

Burton is delighted that I shall write a book!—He wrote at once to my aunt Emmeline to tell her that I was better. I have her letter with congratulations in it today. Burton does the correspondence with all his relations all war work is hard in England. I am becoming quite excited. I long to begin, but there is no use until Maurice finds me a stenographer. He has heard of two. Queen Miss Jenkins aged forty—sounds good but one can only have three hours a day and I must have one at my beck and call. The other is Miss Rose—she is only twenty-one and Maurice says and what a handicap to it—that should not attract me. She makes Cartiers at the evening, but is obliged to work for her living so could come for the day. She is out of a job, because she is very expert, but she does not ask her present one. I would have to pay her very high. Maurice says I don't mind that I want the best—I had better see Miss Sharp, and judge if I can stand her.

'KNIGHTHOOD' IS BEST EVER, SAYS ALAN DALE

By ALAN DALE.

New York, Sept. 15.—Marion Davies wiggled her bare toes at Henry VIII of England, and English history gasped. If English history could possibly take cognizance of the magnificence of "When Knighthood Was In Flower," at the Criterion Theatre, it would gasp some more. But as I said—

Marion Davies wiggled her bare toes at Bluff King Hal.

You may think that a somewhat frivolous start for a review of one of the most opulent films—I'll make it THE most opulent film—I have ever seen. If I were worthy and historical and everything I'm not, I'd expatiate by the column on the wonderful pictures of old England, the marvelous instructive visions of the relentless old tower, the pomp and circumstance—as well as stomach—of Henry VIII; the splendor and coruscant glory of the coronation scene, where Mary Tudor becomes the most unwilling bride of Francis Louis; the stirring incidents, the battles and the brawls; the quaintness of the manners and the tremendous research that must have been made before this priceless film could have been given to the public.

THE TOE'S THE THING.

If I were worthy and historical and British museum-y I'd comment on the absolutely irresistible educational quality of this fiery love story. Alas! Other would do this for you ad lib. and—everything else. I stick by my guns.

Marion Davies wiggled her bare toes at Henry VIII.

You see it's like this.

Henry was positively anxious for the girl to wed senile Louis and Mary was copiously in love with Charles Brandon. (Every woman who sees this picture will probably rave over Charles Brandon and every man will say he's a sloth). So Henry came to see recalcitrant little sister whilst she was in bed. Such a bed! Such bed clothes! Such scintillancy. But Mary Tudor cared not a rap for it all.

She slipped sideways from the gorgeous bed and wiggled her bare toes. Henry was absolutely appalled. He called her either a hussy or a wanton, and then she let loose a bare shoulder, and that capped the climax.

SOME MIXTURE.

You see I have to mention this apparently unworthy subject. It throws a light on the singularly amusing character of Mary Tudor, as portrayed by Miss Davies. Mary was a sort of Katharine minus a Petruchio. Mary was a vamp, a siren, a spitfire, a vixen, a cajoler, a persuader and an altogether irresistible little baggage. You couldn't help loving this Mary Tudor even when she was so hidden in lovely garbs that you could only catch a glimpse of her beauty. She was something of a hoyden, an ingenue, and a wilful little minx. That was it—a minx!

And in the picture you see how she gets her own way, and gets it good! But she had to work. Miss Davies certainly rose to the capital occasion. In one episode, attired in a sort of rosalind doublet and hose, she had a regular out-and-out sword fight. She rampaged over the scene. She lunged at her opponent; she ran him to corners; she raced and romped and she was the very quintessence of pep. Gone was the languor and the "elegance" that she injected into her regal moments. Here we saw her as a tigress, struggling valiantly for the man she loved, and doing it most realistically. The scene wasn't big enough to shelter the ferocious moods of Miss Davies. She was something of a revelation. And yet, I pause for—

HINTS FOR WIVES.

I'll venture to say that if the six wives had possessed one spark of the devilry that Miss Davies used to impersonate his mere sister, English history would have been written differently. Oh, that poor Catharine of Arragon! Oh, the miserable beheaded Anne Boleyn! and oh, the four other victims of Henry's perfidy.

"When Knighthood Was In Flower" sets a new pace for pictures. If they are still in their infancy, this film has started to grow up. There is in it a suspicion of golden adolescence.

The mere cast looks like a list of all the available stars, and every role was played with wonderful results. I loved the Bluff King Hal of Lyn Harding and the work of young Ernest Glendenning. I loved them all. They were so plastic, so instructive, so human and so unlike the most of the library. They lived. They pulsed. But don't forget—never forget—Marion Davies wiggled her bare toes at Henry VIII.

Asks Teacher for Shut-in Children at Long Island

Dr. David J. Johnson, Institutions Commissioner, has asked Mayor Curley if it would be possible to have a school teacher sent to Long Island Hospital, Boston harbor, to teach twenty children there who now are without any form of education whatsoever.

Because of the nature of their diseases they are not allowed to enter the class rooms of other children on the island.

Mayor Curley sent the communication to Dr. David D. Scannell, chairman of the School Committee, with the request that the committee give it immediate consideration.

MOSCOW READY TO MEET U. S. ON 'EQUALITY'

Moscow, Sept. 15 (By the Associated Press).—A note which is considered a reply to the unofficial inquiry of the United States as to whether an American technical commission would be welcome in Russia was handed to Hugh S. Gibson, American minister to Switzerland, by Foreign Minister Tchitcherin at Berne for delivery to Ambassador Alanson B. Houghton, supervising the preliminary negotiations to be held in the United States. It was or in some other country to be determined later.

"The Soviet government," the note states, "is particularly interested in any move which might soon bring the re-establishment of economic relations between Russia and America. It being understood that such relations will be based on equality and in the interests of both concerned.

The Soviet Government heartily welcomes any tendencies in the direction of reciprocity which will enable each country to study the economic condition of the other.

"Owing to the fact that the Soviet Government desires closer relations with the United States it cannot consider exactly just a one-sided proposal for sending an investigating commission to Russia."

Soviets the note adds, are prepared to do whatever "might be considered just and right."

MISS BOOTH IS SURPRISED AT DEPOSITION

New York, Sept. 15.—That orders, removing her from command of the Salvation Army in America had been received from her brother, supreme head of the organization, was announced by Evangeline Booth today.

While her removal had been contemplated for some years the announcement, by radiogram, came as a surprise to Miss Booth. She said she knew of no reason for her deposition, the radio message being her first intimation of it.

The message said: "The farewell of Commander Evangeline Booth from the United States has been under consideration for a number of years. The war, however, made the change impossible. No date has been fixed for the commander's farewell nor any provision made for a successor. We shall, in the latter, be guided largely by her recommendations."

Miss Booth stated she would obey the order when the date is set for her farewell, and that she has cabled for further information. She has headed the organization in this country for eighteen years, coming in 1904 from Canada.

FIRM BANKRUPT FOR A MILLION

New York, Sept. 15.—Alleging liabilities of $1,000,000, an involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in Federal Court today against the Gattl-McQuade Company, manufacturers of mill products, with plants in New Jersey and the Eastern District of New York. Assets were listed at $500,000. The three petitioning creditors presented claims of $11,817.

INDUSTRIAL EDITORS CONVENE SEPT. 29

The opening meeting of the Industrial Editors' Association of New England, composed of editors of house organs and employee publications and those interested in such work, will be held Friday, September 29, at Hotel Nonotuck, Holyoke. The program is the best ever arranged for an I. E. A. meeting.

Sam Wingfield, Curtis Publishing Co., Philadelphia, Pa., will tell of the work Pennsylvania editors are doing in co-operating with industrial, mercantile, trade and State bodies. C. F. Olin, New Departure Manufacturing Co., Bristol, Ct., will treat the subject of employees' publications from a management standpoint.

Personally-conducted tours to the paper mills have been arranged for visitors. Committee meetings will be held Saturday, September 30.

President Charles E. Coyne, "The Echo." William Filene's Sons Co. and Secretary Parsons, "Three Partners," United Shoe Machinery Co. and Anne Dorothy McElroy, treasurer "The Ace," Gilchrist Co., are busy on the arrangements. Fred Cox, "Telephone Topics," is the chairman of the program committee.

LAYMEN'S RETREAT TO OPEN SEPT. 24

The Laymen's Retreat Guild of the Passionist Fathers will be held at St. Gabriel's Seminary, Brighton, on Sunday, September 24, according to announcement today. Men and women are invited to attend the exercises to be held on the monastery grounds. There will be a solemn high mass and special sermon.

SENATORS ANGERED BY KIPLING'S COMMENTS

By Universal Service

Washington, Sept. 15.—Of-

[illegible] England's rest[illegible]

[illegible] of the United States as expressed by Rudyard Kipling, continues to grow.

Some Senators were outspoken in saying that the post not only gave the view of Great Britain but that of all European nations when the United States saved during the World War.

At the same time all were frank in saying that it would be helpful in bringing the United States to an appreciation of what may be expected. It was the general opinion that it would sensibly the Senate in declining that Europe pay her, and cannot to the United States and in keeping out of forcign entanglements.

Many of the high personages officially among them cabinet officers, would comment because of diplomatic usage, but individuals [illegible] to express [illegible]

"KNOW WHERE WE STAND."

"We have helped Europe with what we should have been help a success," [illegible] "Now we know where we stand. The office of spokesman for Great Britain have stated of these matters. At the time they have been doing a fine thing we had. When [illegible] call again, as [illegible] will be a different story."

Senator Shortridge Republican, Indiana, said:

"Whatever expressed the sentiments attributed to Rudyard Kipling expressed the honest regards of the people."

Congress sent her troops to Europe and her wealth to Europe to fight Europe's battles.

"When [illegible] were needed the United States did not have to mortgage the treasures of wealth nor borrowed it from the people. Billions upon billions were loaned to the people of Europe to fight their battles. We gave and sent our people that now would be paid and the United States is now paying for it. We are not the loser by any means, but we will pay the penalty."

EVEN PAID OUR FARE.

It is true the England poet [illegible] a recipient of her wealth and power. They showed surprising [illegible] in transporting our troops to the slaughter on the battlefields of Europe. But England was even more thoughtful than that. She paid all the United States [illegible] sending a passenger fare for every one of our soldiers transported across the seas to fight their battles for them.

"The United States remembered Lafayette but I fail to hear any songs of praise emanating from France. We went to the rescue of [illegible] Pyramid but they have forgotten to sing our praises. Serbia too has forgotten the part that the United States played in saving her."

QUOTES "RECESSIONAL."

We have fed Europe when it was starving we have loaned them money. We have opened our doors to their peoples when they were oppressed.

"I care about all that we hear is [illegible] contempt for which they will wipe out the war debt of [illegible] just they are all willing to forget about it if we will. Unfortunately this can do so easily, but no, United States must [illegible] pay the people who so unselfishly contributed over ten billions of dollars to save their. Next to his disgust with Europe is my contempt for the weak kneed Americans who share their sentiments.

"I have read Mr. Kipling's verse with a great deal of interest and [illegible] time to time, to him for Recessional.

"'Lord God of hosts be with us yet,
Lest we forget, lest we forget.'

"If it is possible for one nation to win the gratitude of Europe, and I am beginning to think it is one of the unattainable things, the United States has done so."

Senator McNary, Republican, Oregon.

MOST DISGRACEFUL.

"If Mr. Kipling made the statements attributed to him it is one of the most disgraceful things imaginable. Mr Kipling of all men should be fully aware of the part the United States played in winning the World War. If we have such feeling among the higher class, more so [illegible] people of Great Britain, what must be the feeling of the masses?"

Senator Heflin, Democrat, Alabama.

"The United States was prompted to enter the war by the loftiest motives that ever inspired the heart of a patriot. Just what part we played in the war is too well known for comment among those familiar with the sacrifice. The surprising thing is that those who profited most should show the least gratitude. They speak of us deserting Europe. We did for them every thing that was humanly possible."

Senator Cameron, Republican, Arizona.

"Kipling's statements are so absurd that they should not be denied by serious comment, were it not for the strength that his prestige in the world of letters gives to his utterances.

"He should know that no people ever gave so liberally to the advancement of any cause as the Americans contributed to the World War. Many actions [illegible] gave up the liberty urged, actually gave until it hurt.

SAVED THE DAY.

"Our soldier boys arrived on the battlefield just in time to save the day. When they were thrown in the French and British were retreating almost in disorder in front of the crushing enemy. Paris appeared to be doomed. With Paris would have gone all of France. Then what would have happened to England I requires no argument.

"If the United States did not win the war, they at least saved England and France from defeat. It is high time the people of those countries should know that."

"Kipling's views are not English and let this fact be known he may."

The most [illegible] records will show the [illegible] that [illegible] and Lord Balfour says England owes [illegible] debts in loose we [illegible] those owing us. It will seem [illegible] somebody did a good [illegible]

"CAV" DRILLS BOSTON COLLEGE LINEMEN

Theory and practice in the rudiments of line play was the program at Boston College, and the players went through a few plays in dummy scrimmage. At the rate the Eagle squad is now progressing, the first cool day should see some real scrimmage practice at the Heights.

The first serious casualty in the B. C. squad occurred when "Steamboat" Donoghue, a giant tackle candidate, wrenched his knee badly. It was Donoghue's second day in uniform, and his injury means the loss of one of the most promising tackle candidates.

In the dummy scrimmage, "Plaster" Ward, former Portland High and Georgetown star, played at left half. Ward is rated as about the best line plunger on the squad. He has weight and speed, the two essentials of a line-smasher.

Among the new candidates expected within the next few days is Ray Liston, brother of Jimmy Liston, one of the best backs who ever played for Boston College. The younger boy weighs 160 pounds, and like his brother, is every inch muscle. As captain of Lowell High last season, he made quite a reputation.

Charles Donelan was at his old post barking out signals and directing plays. Donelan is in fine form after a season as playground director in Medford, and promises to do brilliant work at quarter.

Football Notes

Coach Fred Beresford of Saugus High will be back in the limelight again this year with his same fighting, hard hitting team. Coaches in all lines of sport encounter many hard struggles, but few experience the bumps handed out to this mentor.

* * *

Medford High will stand watching this Fall. Coach Mansfield has something up his sleeve for the other teams when he leads his warriors on the gridiron for the opening game.

Dempsey Exhibition Called Off

Jack Dempsey's exhibition, which was booked to be held under the direction of the Faneuil Club at Mechanics Building tonight, has been called off. The champion has had an attack of boils and will not be able to box for a couple of weeks.

SOCCER GAMES TOMORROW
Boston and District League

NORTHERN DIVISION
Portuguese Americans, vs. Charlestowns, at Cambridge.
Lynn Gas, vs. Electric Thistles, at Lynn.

SOUTHERN DIVISION
Boston Scots, vs. St. George, at Roslindale.

CENTRAL DIVISION
Vikings vs. Clan Stewart, at Franklin Field.
South Boston Celtics, vs. Saxony Mills, at South Boston.

OTHER GAMES
Fore River, vs. Maple Leafs, at Fore River Field, Quincy.

With nearly all of the Boston and District League Clubs scheduled for action tomorrow, soccer fans will not be in want for a good afternoon's entertainment. As can be seen in the list, there are matches slated for every Boston soccer centre and surrounding cities.

Davis Page.

St. George will make their first appearance of the season on the John F. Healey Playground, Washington street, Roslindale, against Frank Dorman's Boston Blues. Many fans will be on hand to see how the Sons shape up against a real live outfit. They will also look over any new talent that may be in the lineup, although St. Georges are said to have practically the same eleven as last season.

Another good exhibition is promised the fans out at Allston, where the Clan Sutherland team will battle Roxbury. Manager Billy Greene of the Clansmen has been working hard the past week trying to sign players that will strengthen his forward line. He has made some headway, too, for he has George Reid of the disbanded Grays, one of the best all-round players in the district, and a new man claiming to be a Scotch Junior, by the name of Fajne.

On the Fore River Field, Quincy, Bobby Lewis will trot out his youngsters to do battle with the Fore River outfit. It will be the first appearance of both aggregations and all the fans in that locality will be out to give them the once over.

Fore River still have several of their old veterans to steady up the youngsters in the person of Jimmy Lambe, Joe Black, Adam Clawson and Oakley are still with the shipbuilders and Davie Page, who was with the star Abbot Worsteds last season is back with his old team.

Sullivan Square, the Mecca of Charlestown fans, will be the scene of a torrid clash between Eddy Roberts' Bunker Hill Celtics and the South Boston Rangers. The latter eleven has started the season right and Micky Fidgeon will have his hands full trying to get through their defense.

The Future Greats.

Neal Harrington, the drop kicking sensation at Revere High in 1920 will enter Holy Cross. While a member of the Revere team two years back, it was nothing unusual for Harrington to boot the ball over the posts from the 45 yard line.

* * *

Eddie Manning, last year's centre of Washington and Jefferson, is assuming Coach Bill Joyce of Lynn Classical with the fine players. His assistance was gladly accepted when ninety five lads reported for practice.

* * *

Coach "Dutch" Ayer of Somerville High has his hands full whipping seventy five green candidates into a possible eleven. Only three letter men are among the big list of candidates.

* * *

Buck Burke, sensational all-round athlete of Lynn English will fill the position of fullback for Coach George Sexton's team. Burke worked in one contest last year, but has promised to make up for lost time.

* * *

Joe Lombardi, last year's quarterback for Revere High, will be back for another season. Conditions are ideal for a strong, fast team at the Amusement City, with Bob Keefe directing the works.

* * *

Graduation raised havoc with Newton High's championship team of last season, but Coach "Allie" Dickinson, who carries the largest squad of any school in the Suburban League, has many fine prospects to fill the vacancies.

* * *

EDDIE CASEY COUNTS ON GOOD SEASON

By CHARLES E. PARKER.

Every time a Harvard man stops to think of a football coach he is apt to spend a few moments thinking of Percy D. Haughton.

Eddie Casey, Harvard's All-American halfback of a few years ago, now coaching at Tufts, is going to spend a few years experimenting on Percy Haughton's methods before he looks in as coach of Mr. Haughton's class.

Eddie doesn't bother to deny the charge because the matter of looking at things as Percy does is of more importance to the Harvard coaching system.

The Harvard system cannot be upended by a single Harvard coach. It takes from twelve to twenty Harvard coaches to put it over in Cambridge, and I strongly doubt whether any ex-Harvard player can present it to another institution.

As a football coach no one passes [illegible] becomes familiar with all [illegible] the Harvard system. He learns how [illegible] to pass, how to punt, how to [illegible] and picks up a few points on the other fellow's game.

Then some fine day [illegible] learn all the Harvard system, and was used to a different method of Harvard football. [illegible] he might find [illegible] to adopt the Harvard system [illegible] for this reason many coaches [illegible] can be quite successful. When one has the material at hand that Harvard usually has, which cannot be put over with the fastest and best coaching material that is ready for play at some other institution.

But as I said before, even if anybody who ever played Harvard football could be appointed as head coach at Harvard, he would have to change the Harvard system and formations as fast as he could get the material to fit in with the Harvard formations as they are. Otherwise, he would be up against it.

Eddie Casey, who appeared the Lookout Wigwam on the varsity squad last year, until an injury made it necessary for him to give up the game is back on the job in fine condition, and there are other men who showed much promise last year ready to battle for first string positions this season.

Among those to report for the opening practice were:

Centre—Captain Frank Russo.

Tackles—"Hod" Barrett, Norman Spooner, E. Thompson.

Backs—Carl Ettleman, Eli Cohen, Frank French, Sam Freeman, A. Pickard, N. L. Reed, Ralph Green, Hervey Rice, Jack Wilson, Jack Hughes

FIRST HARVARD CUT NEXT MONDAY

Jimmy Greene, a native of Scotland and a member of Arnold Horween's eleven at the Francis W. Parker School in Chicago years ago, has been added to the infirmary list at Harvard Jimmy, who will be Fuell's understudy this year, has an infected foot which is bad enough to put him on crutches. Yesterday he was hobbling around Soldiers' Field, casting envious eyes at his competitors.

George Owen, "Winnie" Churchill and Phil Coburn, three of Harvard's foremost gridiron stars, are expected to report next Monday. Either on that day or the day following the first cut of the present squad of 127 will take place.

With these three men and the first cut of the squad Harvard will be ready to get really earnest on its long march to the Rose Bowl. It will be a difficult problem for the coaching staff to whittle down the first cut of the week, for the candidates have all won places in Fisher's heart by the spirit they have shown. They are all fighting grimly for the positions they covet. Even though muscles are complaining, and bruises are getting up bowls, the whole 127 are falling on the ball, charging the machines, tackling the dummy, booting pretty punts and drop kicks, and throwing and receiving forward passes without the slightest murmur of complaint.

As if to urge them on, the carpenters are pounding the last nails in the wooden stands at the end of the horseshoe.

O'MARA VICTORY FEATURE OF TOURNEY

The first amateur boxing show of the Fall and Winter season was held by the St. Joseph's T. A. Society at Commercial Hall, Green street, last night. There were eighteen bouts.

The feature bout was between Frank Reva of the North End and Johnny O'Mara of South Boston. Although O'Mara is virtually a novice, he clearly outfought the seasoned Satra. They are 118 pounders.

ALL-STAR ARRAY FOR B. A. A. MEET

Among the entries for the B. A. A. Fall meet Saturday are several New England and national title holders.

The high hurdles will bring together Joe Stewart, New Jersey champion; Bob Merrick, eastern intercollegiate champion, and J. P. Sullivan, New England and national 220-yard low hurdles junior champion, all Boston college products of Jack Ryder.

In the 100-yard dash, Bill Hayes, New England and Western Conference champion, will start from scratch.

In the mile walk, E. G. Wilson of the B. A. A., New England champion, and Fred Coughtry of the N. Y. A. C. will start from scratch.

The 440-yard hurdle will afford a chance of Jack Dowd, popular B. A. A. star, an opportunity to see the speed marvel for the first time since he won his national title.

The half mile will have George Meisters of the B. A. A. New England and National junior 1 mile champion.

Starting from scratch in the mile handicap, winner of the New England title in the last five years, will allow Lorgal handicaps to a large field.

Sisler Defies Doctor and Will Play Saturday

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 14.—George Sisler announced after an examination by four physicians that he would disregard their advice not to attempt to play before next Wednesday by declaring he would appear at first base for the Browns in Saturday's game with the Yankees.

"I'm going to start," stated Sisler. "But how long I will be able to play I do not know." The right shoulder has not improved since it was injured but I am going to take a chance. I can move the right arm a few inches and by Saturday I may be able to swing a ball."

Sisler added that after testing the right shoulder that if it should not respond to the spirit of his heart he would withdraw from the game which would mean that he would be unable to play any more this season.

KOTSOMAROS IS WRESTLING VICTOR

George Kotsomaros, Greek wrestling champion, defeated Cyclone Ross in two straight falls in the feature bout at the opening of the Grand Opera House season. The Greek marvel took the first with a flying mare after thirty-eight minutes of grappling, and pinned his opponent with an arm scissors in fifteen minutes for the second fall.

The winner made a hit with the crowd by his fine work, and after the bout delivered a speech in which he expressed his willingness to meet any opponent who will go to the mat with him.

JACK MURPHY ON JOB AT LYNN

Jack Murphy has once more assumed his duties as matchmaker for the Central A. C. of Lynn. Jack has booked Bobby Dixon, New Bedford bantamweight, and Tommy Ryan for the opening show which will be staged next Monday night.

Johnny Morello of East Boston and Young Barrow of Providence will mingle in the semi-final of eight rounds, Joe O'Brien of Roxbury and Johnson of the West End six frames as will Paul De[illegible] of Quincy and Kid Phippin of Newton.

JOHNNY VETO IN PORTLAND BOUT

Johnny Veto, Chelsea welterweight, has started a campaign which he hopes will lead up to a bout with Eddie Shevlin. Veto has been busy training for a month and will get started on his new drive at a show to be staged at Portland tomorrow afternoon. He will be pitted against the best available welterweight at an all-star offering.

Chick Hayes has signed Johnny Brown to meet Red Cap Wilson at the same show.

Gould has done some of his best battling in Woonsocket rings. He has won six straight victories, and says he would make it seven in a row this evening.

BILLY AND GEORGE ON WITH LOCAL STARS

By JACK CONWAY.

Billy Shade, lightweight, battles Jack McClellan at the Arena A. C. a star show are Monday night.

They call them the fighting Shades. This is proper recognition for one of the greatest families of fighters in modern ring history.

Ben Shade is well known to Boston fistic fans as he defeated Nate Siegel and Paul Doyle in bouts at the Boston Arena. He is one of the chief challengers for a bout with Jack Britton. Ben has already engaged in one draw battle with the king of the welterweight division.

Billy Shade, as he is called, is rather a remarkable youth. Like the other Shade brothers he is a fighter.

His ring career was a brief affair, Shade's as a fighter lasted for but two years. He was a lightweight and he was offered a chance to go to Australia. He went there and stayed.

Billy went to Australia as a lightweight and came back a light heavyweight. It appears that virtually all American ring warriors who visit the Antipodes pack on weight. While in the Antipodes, Billy, incidentally, won the lightweight, middleweight and light heavyweight titles. Quite a feat for an American boy thousands of miles from home.

George Shade, Billy's brother, is destined to win fistic honors, if he is of the opinion that he will die. He had a hard fight to gain for himself his honor

Many Famous Fighting Families in Ring

The wallop of the Shade family call to mind the performances of some of the other fighting families of other days. Bonner brothers, Gardner brothers of Lowell, Gorman, Billy and Jimmy were all mighty handy with their mitts. This trio would have a picture of the possessed their old abbey today.

Then there were the Wolgast brothers, Ad and Johnny. Ad was good enough to win over Battling Nelson, while Johnny accumulated quite a flock of victories.

Then don't forget the Sheiles. Eddie is still boss of the New England welterweights, while Billy was quite a battler in his day.

Jimmy Leonard's brother, Joe, is also a two handed fighter. Not quite so good as Jimmy, of course, but still good enough to turn back much tougher opposition.

It is not good business to pick on one of these fighting families. To-day he is one leather of the outfit only to be flattened by another.

Alex Trembitas Looks Like Regular Fighter

Joe McGrath, who introduces Alex Trembitas Monday night, thinks Trembitas will have set new hitters as an opponent. Alex has engaged in a couple of draw bouts with Dave Shade and is confident he will win over Latzo. The slugging miner, though, says he will finish in front.

Another ten-rounder will find Billy Shine of Quincy and Irish Watson of South Boston in action.

Matchmaker Tom Gladwin of the Arena A. C. deserves a vote of thanks for introducing Ohio Steele from Lowell and Trembitas to Boston fans. New Hampshire ranks needed to put a little pep into the ball as Referee Leo Anderson did his part the other night. Maybe Shade brothers and Trembitas do as well.

KILBANE ASKS FOR $100,000

Johnny Kilbane, featherweight

champion, appears figures at Eugene Criqui, French lightweight, to fight with the Frenchman. A high, soft, New York would like to stage the bout, so would Paris. But nobody cares to pay Kilbane $100,000 for his services.

As for Criqui, he might be satisfied with $50,000 or so.

FORSYTH WILL BE WITH ELECTRICS

It is rumored that the manager most of Allen Sutherland is angling for the services of Harry Forsyth but Harry has signed with the Grays & Davis agitation last season and several weeks before that with that outfit gained the reputation of being one of the classiest semi-pro teams in New England. He is tall and lanky, handles the ball cleverly and covers the lines cleverly. He is cool and steady under fire and seldom gets excited when hard pressed one of the chief requisites of a stable scout.

Besides being a classy 2nd baseman he is a clever golfer, having won several cups in Scotland when only a youngster.

'Pancho the Puncho' Is What Crowd Called Him

"Pancho the Puncho" as a crowd of 20,000 hailed him after he had dethroned Johnny Buff, the former flyweight champion, came from Manila with great ambitions, to beat Buff was one of them. Now he hopes to fight World's champion flyweight Jimmy Wilde in England or in this country.

Buff, more than thirty, fired before the fierce onslaught and was finally smashed into helplessness. He was knocked down three times in the tenth and was a mark in the eleventh round.

BOB LEE SAYS A FEW WORDS

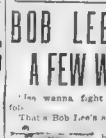
That's Bob Lee's story



Bob Lee

He says there's fighting blood in his veins.

And I'm fast and scientific, says Robert.

All the necessary assists me in ways to prepare himself for Norfolk.

Three weeks would do to train for Whitey Allen.

FILIPINO TAKES TITLE AWAY FROM BUFF

New York Sept. 15.—A towel fluttering through the air and landing in the centre of the ring at Ebbets Field gave Pancho Villa the American flyweight championship. The white flag, acknowledging defeat, came from the corner of Johnny Buff, the dethroned king. It was in the seventh round after 27 seconds of fighting in that session when the Buff colors sank to defeat.

In that session Villa drove the veteran around viciously. The old timer staggered like a drunken man. His hands hung helpless at his sides and his face was nothing but a gory map. Referee Haley was ready to step in and stop the slaughter when the towel sailed through the air.

It marked the retirement of Johnny Buff. Within a few months he has lost two crowns and realizes he has to step aside and give younger lads a chance. It was one more clash of youth and age and naturally youth triumphed.

A few minutes after the fight started it was plainly to be seen that Villa would win. Many thought he'd win sooner than he did, but the game fellow stuck until he was forced to bow down before the steady and ruthless assault.

Through the little slant-eyed kid from Manila received a great reception there were plenty of cheers for the beaten gladiator.

Pancho Was at Even 110 and Johnny at 111¼

Villa's weight was announced as 110 and Buff's as 111. They rushed into a clinch at the gong and battered away hard at the body. Villa managed to get a few left hooks over with, started a trickle from Buff's right hand with his left and had Buff Villa swinging like a gate.

Villa dug around like a little digger in the third but missed a lot. Buff got in his left. Then Pancho shot over two right hooks He rushed Buff to a neutral corner and two hard smashes made Johnny's nose grow more crimson.

Villa hooked right and left to the jaw as the fourth started. He hopped around and made Johnny miss many. Like a flash, Villa dropped a right hook on Johnny's jaw. The Filipino moved around so rapidly that Buff couldn't find him.

After the fifth started Villa got Buff into a corner and pounded him around the body. He drove a hard right to Buff's jaw and the latter stood still. Buff tried to get one right over but his evasive rival ducked like a streak. He kept after Buff and landed from every conceivable angle.

Villa forced the battle in the seventh and crashed his right and left on Buff's jaw. A hard right hook drove John on the ropes. After a flurry Villa landed again with his left. The Filipino took a few to get some over and then had the crowd yelling by driving Buff all around the ring, hooking swings and bringing back-hand blows into play.

Buff looked well battered when he came out for the eighth. They started to mix with both hitting. Referee Haley was forced to warn Villa for hitting low. John got in a few right hooks but Villa slammed him freely with both gloves. He hooked with his left and then brought right to body. Buff capped him two stiff rights as bell clanged.

A clinch started the ninth. When Villa broke loose he threw his left over wildly. Buff dropped his right twice on Villa's jaw, and the latter got over two left hooks. Villa gave a great display of dodging. Then it stood it up furiously. Johnny was desperate. Buff managed to draw the blood from Villa's nose, which encouraged Buff's admirers for the first time during the battle.

In the tenth both appeared tired as they came out and sparred around until Villa landed a left backhand. Buff got over two rights and Villa beat after him until he crossed a hard right.

The Filipino drove Buff staggering across the ring with a left and then drove a right that sat Buff in his corner. After a flurry another right dropped Buff, then came another right that sent Buff on the ropes and he rolled to the ground helpless. The bell came to his rescue.

Villa went right after his man in the eleventh and drove him around and had him reeling around helplessly. Referee Haley appealed to Buff's seconds and a towel flew into the ring and a new titleholder was created.

NORTH SHORE LEAGUE WELL BALANCED

By FRED C. LANE

This year's fight in the North Shore League will be the hottest waged in years, in the opinion of Coach H. Jones of Lynn Classical. He made a statement yesterday and based many good reasons his knowledge on his long term of service as a baseball coach in that section.

It is not to be said that any other league and the Eastern would be scattered and balanced as in the Seashore League. This year Lynn English, Lynn Classical, Peabody, Beverly and Gloucester all have championship like prospects for fast teams.

The two Lynn teams and Peabody High, with Coach Bob Brawley superintending the works, have a slight edge on their competitors. The Lynn English team, coached by George Scott, won the championship last Fall. This winning combination remains intact with a few exceptions.

Desert Love

By JOAN CONQUEST

WOULD YOU?

Jill Carden, a beautiful and daring young English girl, brought up in a conventional home, burns her bridges behind her and lives in an oasis, far from her own race, for the love of an Arab chief. She was seventeen, motherless and much sought after by reason of her great wealth, which, however, disappeared when her father's will was read. After getting a position as traveling companion she finds herself at Suez. She gets her first glimpse of Hahmed, the Camel King, and tosses a coin to decide whether she shall speak to him or go back to England. It falls heads and she is committed to the Sheik and the desert. He takes her to Arabia, where he builds a beautiful home for her. She falls in love with him, and they journey to Cairo to be married.

"Mary" 's ROMANCE OF A BOSTON BUSINESS GIRL

By Elenore Meherin

Start This Story Today

MARY KELLY wins the post of private secretary to HALL DAWSON, a dynamic promoter with offices in Water street. She instinctively fears him. After the conclusion of a big deal he calls her his mascot and gives her a check for $100, which she accepts with misgivings. Reassured by Dawson, however, she plunges into her work, dreaming of the day she will be his partner. Mary goes to see the parade of the returning Yankee Division and meets PAT SULLIVAN, her childhood sweetheart. JACK MAHONEY, a young millionaire, declares his love for her. Pat takes Mary riding and she realizes she loves him only. She receives a letter of proposal from Mahoney and answers it with a refusal. Pat has a row with Dawson. Mary sits for her portrait to Allan Bruce.

"Would you be content like that, Mary?" Pat asked suddenly

"ANGELO'S home. Coming tonight, the darling! Look what I bought!" She unwrapped a delicate pink Georgette waist with tucks and insets of lace. "I'm going to doll! Where's ma? Gee, Mary, you look scared. Where is she?" Her face that had been flooded with color grew suddenly pale. She let herself sag into a chair. "Is she lying down, Mary? Good Lord, if it isn't just our luck!"

"She's all right, June. I just made her lie down for a little while."

"All right, nothing! She looked perfectly terrible. I noticed it before." She had stood up. She turned quickly now, leaning against the wall, her face covered, her shoulders heaving. I ran over to her, pressing my face against her arms.

"You don't think there's anything wrong with ma, June?"

"Oh, there is, Mary. I've just been sick over it. She looks so worn."

We stood there flat against the wall, not daring to read the fear in each other's eyes, unable to speak.

"What's the matter with you children?" Fresh, sweet, smiling ma had come into the room.

"Mary just made me take a rest." She put her little hands on June's face. "Don't cry, June, dear." It seemed to me ma's eyes were very sad. "I want you all to look happy tonight." I had the dinner ready, the table set.

We waited and waited. It was 7 o'clock before dad came in. His mouth worked. He covered his face with his hands and lumbered heavily from the room. A silence, throbbing with discordant voice, pressed its weight upon us.

"There's Angelo now" June started to her feet as the bell rang. "Tell him I'm out, Mary. May I had to work an emergency shift. I'm not going to see him I'll just bawl"

I heard her voice rising as I went to the door

"Hello, Mary Gee, it's good to see you!" Angelo was a dark-haired fellow, with serious eyes and dimples. "Take a look! Isn't she a beauty!" He pulled my arm, running me down the steps. "It's a surprise for June—a wedding present to ourselves!"

He had a small five-passenger automobile shining with newness.

June forgot she was going to "bawl"; Pat came; I was going to ride with him in the roadster.

The next day we all went to the country on our picnic—and I never say ma so happy.

We spread our lunch in a circle of pines. Ma had made macaroni salad with little pieces of celery and olives cut through it. She sat down on the heaps of dry leaves to serve us. She was radiant; her eyes shone. Dad watched her. Every once in a while he rubbed his big hand over his face.

I guessed what he was thinking.

"Why did they go and strike, Pat?"

"What else could we do? They made an agreement, then they went backwards on it. They call down he Federal law so they can betray their own promises, cheat us and keep all their big profits for themselves. It's within the law for them to make money; against it for us. The strike is our only weapon. Nobody likes it. It means that we face hunger. Men only do that when there is no other way to win their rights."

Ma's words, "Bow your back for the burdens," came to me. How often she had done it and yet she kept her sweetness.

Dad and ma sat by themselves watching lights of the city like low set stars beaming red, golden, green; watching the moon trailing its silver veil across the water. I saw him whisper to her; I heard her laugh; his hand closed on hers. They had only that. It seemed to be enough.

"Would you be content like that, Mary?" Pat asked suddenly as though he read my thought.

"Would you, Pat?"

"Would I?" I glanced at him. The look in his face was the most glorious thing I ever saw.

That was the last happy day I had in many a long week.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Dawson, I can't come tonight." I held the receiver in shaking hands. My chin trembled against the mouthpiece.

It was Thursday afternoon. Pat was coming. It was his last night. On Monday after the picnic, feverish with excitement, he had come to the office to take me to lunch. The accessory company had wired him. They wanted the patent; wanted him to come to New York at once. They sent him his passage. He was leaving Friday morning at 9 o'clock. We were going to have dinner together. "A farewell to poverty, darling," he said.

And now Mrs. Dawson was on the phone ordering me to come out to their home on business.

"I can't come," I repeated.

"I'll come the first thing in the morning. I have some business I must attend to tonight, something very important," I said.

There must have been a full minute's silence.

"Hold the line a moment," she said at last.

"I'll not go, I'll not go," I told myself. Then I took up the receiver again.

"For gawd's sake, Mary, are you dead?" It was Dawson's voice shouting in the phone. "Can't you answer?"

"Hello?" I called.

"Where the devil were you?"

"All right, all right. Come out now, Mary."

"You can't? You gotta"

"I have an engagement I can't break. I've worked nine hours today already."

"Mary, did I ever make you punch a time clock? Ta-k of engagements and the whole works are blowing up. Castle is gonna quit on the Fur. He's coming again at 8. I've gotta see you then. You get here"

I hung up the receiver weak, unnerved, filled with self-pity. The glorious farewell dinner was spoiled. Pat would be angry. He would think I could have made excuses—avoided going somehow.

If I didn't Castle might withdraw. I knew him. He was the most vacillating fellow I ever heard speak. Dawson had invested thousands for him and always made money. Castle believed superstitiously in Dawson's luck and yet he would agree one day, change his mind the next and sometimes rush away leaving everything undecided. If he did that now the Fur Island scheme would fall flat. I would have to go.

I put on my coat. I began to feel cold. Then I sat at my desk. I don't know how long. The door opened.

"Must I wait all night for you, darling? Pat's rich, Irish voice rang. His eyes, his teeth, even his skin seemed to flash. Then he looked at me sitting with my coat half on

"Well——?" It was a long drawn out, surprised question. "What's the matter, Mary?" he asked, hurt, baffled. "Don't you want to come"

"Oh, of course I do, Mary. I've just been looking forward to it. I—I—I—I seemed to get dark. All words faded.

"What happened, Mary?"

"Nothing, darling. Old thing. I have to go out there, I might"

"Tonight, Mary. Well you'll not! Tell them you won't hear of it"

"I did. First his wife spoke to me—then he came. If I don't go I'll lose the job."

"It would be a good thing if you did! He can command eight hours of your time. He doesn't own you, does he? Don't go. Let him fire you"

"Yes, and let me starve."

"Mary, you know that no employer is entitled to twenty four hours of your time. He can't call on you night and day. You know that. Dawson is just taking advantage of you. Why, it's an outrage. It makes my blood boil. Let him come down and get the papers himself. Let him send his wife for them."

"No one else knows what he wants. No one else has all the facts"

"Mary, I saw Dawson on the street today. He could get the stuff himself"

"I saw him"

"Could I tell him that over the phone? Could I refuse to go?"

"Yes, you could. You'll have to. You're making a terrible mistake to be at his beck and call to-night."

"You don't trust him, Pat. That's why you say that."

"Of course I don't trust him. I know that he's crooked. He doesn't mean any good to you, Mary. You ought to see it. You've worked there two years," he said, growing suddenly heated, speaking in quick, angry tones.

"You must know what you're stepping into. You have sense."

If he had raised his hand and struck me I wouldn't have been more hurt, more stunned. The tears crowded into my eyes; my chin wouldn't stay still.

"I didn't mean it, Mary," he said quickly, taking my hands. Forgive me. I don't know what I'm saying. Look at me, Mary; don't be angry. Something happened today. Oh, your going out there makes me beside myself!"

"I'm not angry, Pat, but you're cruel. Dawson only values me because I'm useful. I have to go there. It means the success of the fur scheme. I can't be so independent. Can I risk losing the job with dad on strike and June going to get married? We only have what I earn"

Syrup Pepsin Helps Nature Give Relief

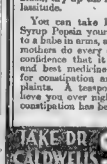
IT is not necessary to take a virulent physic for so simple an ailment as constipation. Yet many thoughtless parents give mercury in the form of calomel, and cool-ter in the form of phenol when a natural vegetable compound like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will do the work equally well and without danger. People should realize that mercury may salivate and in certain conditions loosen the teeth; that phenolphthalein, by whatever name known and however disguised in candy, may cause dermatitis and other skin eruptions; that salt waters and powders may concentrate the blood, dry up the skin and cause lassitude.



You can take Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin yourself or give it to a babe in arms, as thousands of mothers do every day, with the confidence that it is the safest and best medicine you can use for constipation and such complaints. A teaspoonful will relieve you ever night even if the constipation has been chronic for years. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatics, and does not cramp or gripe. Every druggist handles it, and bottles are so generous that the cost amounts to only about a cent a dose. You buy it with the understanding that if it does not do as claimed your money will be refunded. The names of all the ingredients are on the package.

Mrs. A. Arceneaux of Orange, Texas, suffered from constipation for six years and found no relief until she took Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin; and Mrs. Gus Anderson of Bull, Kans., corrected her bowel trouble so that she now eats and sleeps normally. Buy a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin into your own home and let the family use it for constipation, biliousness, wind, gas, headaches, flatulency, and to break up fevers and colds.

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "If here can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 513 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois Do it now!

Strength of Radio

RADIO impulses which are so weak that only very delicate apparatus will respond to them are still powerful enough to set in motion a train weighing 5,400,000 pounds and more than a quarter of a mile in length.

This feat was actually accomplished when a train of thirty-three cars carrying equipment for the electrification of the Chilean State Railways was set in motion by ether waves from the broadcasting station, KDKA, at East Pittsburgh.

The train, which stood in the yards at Pittsburgh, was started on its long journey when a switch was closed on a pole some distance from the track. This communicated to the KDKA station a special message, causing them to broadcast a pre-arranged code signal of dots and dashes.

This message was received by a special receiving apparatus set up on the locomotive cab, consisting of an aerial, and a receiver which was prepared to respond only to the pre-arranged signal. When this signal was received various electrical circuits were closed automatically, and these circuits set the train in motion as effectively as if done by the engineer.

COMFORTABLE WORK DRESS

3969.—It is the little touches in the finish of this garment that will please you—as well as knowing that it is easy to make and comfortable to wear. In seersucker or chambray or a neat pattern of percale it is quite as nice as it made up in gabardine, dimity or dotted Swiss.

It is cut in seven sizes: 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust measure. A 38-inch size requires six yards of 36-inch material.

Lakehurst Aerial

The problem of erecting an aerial at the naval airship base at Lakehurst, N. J., where the usual towers would interfere with the manoeuvring of the two giant rigids ZR1 and ZR3 was met by engineers in a novel way. Instead of an aerial between 750 and 900 feet in height, which would have made the flying of the giant airships dangerous, an aerial only 60 feet in height was erected. This was nearly 800 feet long and 120 feet wide in the form of a gridiron at one side of the landing field. Recent tests showed a daytime range of 250 miles with 1 K. W. on the antenna, and during Winter nights it is expected that communication may be established with ships or aircraft fully 2,500 miles out on the Atlantic.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By Beatrice Fairfax

A Secret Engagement

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am in love with a girl seven years older than I. Have been secretly engaged to her for two years, and now my parents and sister want me to give her up on account of the difference in age. This girl loves me as dearly as I do her, and I don't want to give her up, but my folks are making it unpleasant for me and have forbidden me to have this girl at my home. CONGERS.

IF you are a boy of twenty-one or two and the girl you love a woman of nearly thirty, the difference between you is one of age and maturity. Sometimes a marriage based on true love and congeniality can surmount even a greater barrier than the difference of viewpoint seven years gives. But if you are a youthvacillating, romantic, uncertain of yourself, incapable of making decisions and sticking to them—you will do your sweetheart a grave injustice by entering into a marriage where your lack of years and stability is bound to disappoint her. Without further data than you give no one can presume to advise you.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—

There are thirty varieties of date palms to be found in Egypt, which country contains neither woods nor forests.

Shake Off That Backache!

"Every Picture Tells a Story"

WHY let that dull, nagging backache make you old and miserable? Get rid of it! It's time you stopped worrying and complaining and gave some attention to your kidneys. Present day life, with its hurry and worry, is mighty hard on the kidneys. And weak kidneys cause many queer aches, pains and bladder irregularities. Your back aches; you are lame and stiff, nervous and unstrung. Your head aches, you are dizzy, suffer sharp, rheumatic pains and feel weak, tired, nervous and depressed. Don't wait! Neglect may mean some serious kidney sickness. Begin today with Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have brought new health to thousands of weak, tired, ailing people. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

Read How These Boston Folks Found Relief:

FRANK COAKLEY, carpenter, 65 Meridian St., East Boston, says

"I strained my back doing heavy lifting, and as a result I suffered with backache. When I stooped, a sharp pain struck me in the small of my back and I had to raise up by inches. The kidney secretions passed too often and they were scanty and highly colored. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, so I bought a box at Fraser's Drug Store. They relieved me of the backache and other symptoms

MRS. BRADFORD N. BISHOP, 32 Henson St., says.

I was all run down and suffered from backache a few years ago. Mornings my back was so painful I could hardly get around. I tired easily and everything seemed a task. I was nervous and it seemed as though everything were going around in circles at times. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, so I purchased a box at Fraser's Drug Store. I felt better right away and two boxes of Doan's cured me."

D. J. CRONIN, [illegible] n St., South Boston, says.

"I caught cold in my kidneys and I suffered with backache. When I got up in the morning I couldn't straighten my back for a couple of hours on account of the pains in the small of it. The kidney secretions passed too often and they were scanty and burned like fire. I used two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me of the backache and put my kidneys in good condition"

LABOR THANKS HEARST FOR WAGE LETTER

Oakland, Calif., Sept. 15.—In appreciation of the letter of William Randolph Hearst, recently published in the Post-Enquirer, pointing to the economic folly of drastic wage reductions and to the fact that prosperity is the inevitable accompaniment of high wages, the Alameda County Building Trades Council adopted unanimously a resolution commending the letter of Mr. Hearst and the policy of the Post-Enquirer. The resolution follows:

"Whereas, valuable publicity matter directly in line with the Building Trades Councils' arguments about to be directed to the merchants and business men of Oakland were recently published in the Post-Enquirer of this city under the signature of the owner of that paper, Mr. William Randolph Hearst, the articles being attached hereto, and GREAT HELP TO LABOR.

"Whereas, the Post-Enquirer's advocacy of a square deal and decent living conditions for labor and the forceful argument of its owner showing the merchant and business man that it is to his best interest to have such conditions prevail are of great value to the organized workers of the Building Trades, and

"Whereas, in seeking to promote the welfare of the workers of the Building Trades this council makes no mistake in sending words of appreciation and encouragement to the journal and the journalist responsible for this pro-labor publicity; now, therefore, be it

EXPRESS THANKS.

"Resolved, the Building Trades Council of Alameda County, in regular meeting assembled, that we express our thanks to the management of the Post-Enquirer for publishing so prominently Mr. Hearst's advocacy of decent wages and a square deal for labor; be it further

"Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the editors and owners of the Post-Enquirer.

(Signed)

"EDWARD HAWKINS.
Secretary.

CHARLES GERNEY,
Secretary-Treasurer.

S. JOSEPH LLOYD,
Business Agent."

GRIFFIN'S OPENS NEW CLOTHING ADDITION

Another notable addition to the clothing business of the city was made this week with the opening of a new department of men's clothing by George L. Griffin & Son, Nos. 368-370 Washington street. The entire second floor of their building will be devoted henceforth to the display of clothing and all the conveniences services have been installed to insure proper lighting.

In order to provide merchandise which would measure up to the high standard of quality maintained throughout the building, Griffin's have secured the famous Stratford Clothes — known as the "Style Clothes of America." They will be featured by Griffin's at closely marked prices to provide values that will popularize them quickly. This new department should score an immediate success, and add another line of merchandise to round out this fast growing and popular store.

CITY TO KEEP FIRE HORSES FOR WINTER

The first official communication received by Mayor Curley from Fire Commissioner Theodore Glynn was an advance notice the latter is approaching and that he is preparing for a heavy fall of snow.

The commissioner requested permission to send the horses that are being eliminated as fast as new motor apparatus is acquired to the Public Works Department, on condition that they be returned to the Fire Department whenever needed because of snow-blocked streets.

PROF. SHIPERD IS APPOINTED TO B. U.

REAL ESTATE HAPPENINGS

The modern five-story brick apartment house at No. 238-240 Hemenway street, corner of Fenouri, has been sold by the executors of the William H. Allen estate to Israel Ramler, who buys for investment. The property, which is located not far from the Museum of Arts, has a land area of 4,644 square feet. The tax valuation is $80,600 of which $17,600 is on the land and $63,000 on the building.

BRIGHTON SALE.

Maurice S. Barkin has sold to Maurice Lewenberg the property at Nos. 407-409 Washington street and No. 1 Parsons street, Brighton, almost directly opposite Brighton Congregational Church. The property includes two frame structures and 20,247 square feet of land. The tax valuation is 11,700, of which $6,600 is on the land. The purchaser buys for development.

EXCHANGE ELECTS MEMBERS.

At a recent meeting of the directors of the Boston Real Estate Exchange the following were elected to membership: Preston S. Cotter of S. W. Straus & Company, Shawmut Bank building; Henry West, treasurer, Institution for Savings in Roxbury; Charles A. Hall, real estate, No. 620 Tremont street; Frank A. Stearns, architect, No. 15 State street; Edward B. Lunn, real estate, No. 37 School street; Ernest Manahan, merchant, No. 280 Boylston street.

SALES BRISK AT ROCKAWAY.

Though the vacation season is over, evidence that a large number of people are still thinking of vacation and planning for next year is seen in the numerous inquiries being received by the Rockaway-Nantasket Land Company regarding bungalow and camp sites at Rockaway, Nantasket.

This property is looked upon with favor by many not only because it is located just five minutes from, and directly opposite the Nantasket boat landing, but also because the character of the beach is practically guaranteed by the immense sums, totaling over a million dollars, which have been spent by the Commonwealth in the development of the beach.

Over two miles of water front lie within the borders of this development, known as the Fliz estate for 200 years, which is familiar to all who have enjoyed the boat trip to Nantasket. From the boat the high, dry, healthful location overlooking bay, beach and ocean, has never failed to attract attention and excite comment as to why it had remained undeveloped. The reason, lack of easy connection with the beach, has now been removed by the completion of the steel bridge. It is expected that by another Summer the property will be dotted with cottages and that soon the view of the harbor from the boats will seem similar to that obsessed toward the Hull side.

Numerous sales promise to be made daily, as the policy of the company in maintaining free auto service from the boat landing, makes the property exceptionally easy of access.

SCHWAB SLATED TO SPEAK HERE OCTOBER 17

Charles M. Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, will be the chief speaker at the annual banquet of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts at the Copley-Plaza Hotel, during the seventh annual conference of the association, October 17.

Governor Channing H. Cox will also be a guest of the association and welcome the steel magnate, and 1,000 members of the organization who will gather at the Copley-Plaza for a two-day parley on industrial conditions.

C. M. Schwab

Other speakers of note who will address the conference are Dr. Dyer, professor of political economy of Vanderbilt University, who will talk on "Government and Business," and General H. G. Lord, director of the Federal Budget.

BRAVES FIELD FOR FIREWORKS CIRCUS

Another fireworks display will be given at Braves Field next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings when the American Fireworks Company will stage the final show of the season in a spectacle entitled the "Fireworks Circus."

The management has spared no pains in making the exhibition the greatest of the season and the fireworks circus an exact replica of a regular circus. It will include the general parade with the lady trimmeisteers on horseback, the menagerie with its lions, tigers, and monkeys in cages, the clowns and other funny incidentals, all of which will be in fireworks and moving along like a regular circus.

Other features will be introduced including chariot races, bicycle races, high diving, looping the loop, an all-night display of pyrotechnics. As usual the regular fireworks exhibition with its set pieces and bursting bombs and heavy detonations will end the evenings entertainment.

Fitzgerald Is Progressive

The Record of His Public Career Should Get Him Enough Independent Votes to Insure Election

The Democrats have nominated John F. Fitzgerald for Governor, and, of course, the Democrats will vote for him. That may be enough to elect him. But if it is not, we have every hope that enough Independents or Republicans will join him to make sure of his election.

Why should a Liberal or Independent vote for him? We suggest that he ought to be the candidate of all Liberals because he does not represent the Republican stand-pat attitude in office. The ordinary Republican, when he is honest, and not a mere tool of the reactionary interests, thinks that we have a perfect government, and if we could only stand still we should be all right. The ordinary good Republican thinks that we have even now reached the Elysian fields and are already in Utopia. He conceives the world to be in a static condition—if you can stand still you will be safe, if you move you are in danger.

Now the progressive man, whether you call him a Democrat or what, believes that the world is moving all the time and that you must move to keep up with it and that you cannot stand still, for standing still is moving backwards. You must either progress or retrogress.

How any thoughtful student of history can deny that history teaches us this lesson of eternal movement we cannot understand. But temperament is more powerful than logic with a great many men and women, and large numbers of us are temperamentally stagnant. They are the typical good Republicans of New England. They are not the typical good Republicans in the West. Why are they typical of good Republicans in New England, and why do good Republicans in the West give Robert M. La Follette an extraordinary triumph? The difference is in temperament. The West contains the young, fiery, red-blooded, optimistic, forward-looking, forward-moving, active progressive elements of the New England stock. It was the active, constructive, hopeful youth from the New England farms who obeyed Horace Greeley's advice, "Go West, young man, go West." It was the stick-in-the-mud boys who stayed home on the farm, good boys, boys of excellent character, with good blood in them, who would hold the fort till Kingdom comes, but temperamentally they will not progress. They are standing still all the time. They want to do everything as their fathers did. They cannot see any other way of doing it. "It can't be done" is their answer to every new suggestion. Their ancestors said that the world was flat, and Columbus was a fool, that Stevenson was an idiot to sit staring at steam as it raised the kettle cover and let it back again. They saw no railroads and steamboats and machinery in that steam. They thought Professor Morse was queer and Bell was mad when they heard that these two men were trying to project communication over the wire.

This is the difference between the New England stick-in-the-mud Republicanism and the Western Republican progressivism. In the West, Republicans are liable to be more progressive than the Democrats. In the East, the Democrats are more progressive than the Republicans because the Republicans are made up of those who are stuck-in-the-mud, and the Eastern Democrats are largely made up of the same elements that constitute the Republicans of the West, immigrants and the sons of immigrants who in their own countries heeded their Horace Greeleys when they said, "Go West, young man, go West."

We want you Independents and unesey Republicans and the progressive among you who, for some reason or another, did not get West, to compare the platform on which John F. Fitzgerald will run for Governor and the platform on which Governor Cox will run. We want you to compare Mr. Fitzgerald's proposals with the proposals Governor Cox will make. We want you to compare Mr. Fitzgerald's administration as Mayor with Mr. Cox's administration.

When you have done that, we think there will be enough to make up for the difference between the progressive Democrats and the stick-in-the-mud Republicans.

Mr. Kipling Who Faded Out

First Pay, Then Complain

Copyright, 1922, Star Co.

Senator Borah and Clemenceau of France are agitated about Rudyard Kipling and what he says of the United States in war. Says Kipling, "America came into the war two years seven months and four days too late." He adds, "They (the Americans) lent us money at 8 per cent. and made good business of it. They have got the gold of the world, but we have saved our souls."

There is no use getting excited about Kipling, who hasn't amounted to anything recently.

If he refers to himself when he says the Americans have got the gold and "we have saved our souls," it is admitted that the Americans have the better part of it.

Americans may have gone in late, but not TOO late. They went in just after the British commander-in-chief had announced that England, with her back to the wall, was fighting for life. This country pried the gentleman's back loose from the wall.

Kipling's statement that the United States lent money to England at 8 per cent. is false. But it doesn't make much difference, inasmuch as England has not paid either principal or interest—and it doesn't look as though we would get either for a long while, if ever.

In the meantime, we have paid large and excessive bills that England sent us for transporting, in her ships, our soldiers to save her from being made part of the German Empire. Kipling is welcome to what he can get out of that.

Apart from that, he is a nice little fellow. When he sat cross-legged on a sofa in the old Manhattan Club in A. T. Stewart's New York mansion at the corner of Thirty-fourth street and Fifth avenue, telling funny stories about English coster-mongers, he was extremely amusing.

5-Cent Fare Zone Extended

We welcome the announcement by the public managers of our street railway system that they have extended the five-cent fare zone once more. The Essex street-Eustis street line via Washington street will be operated for five cents. Another line from Dudley street to Bowdoin square, West End, will be operated for five cents. The line between Upham's Corner and Sheridan square will be operated for five cents.

Let the good work go on until the Legislature next year enables the public trustees to reduce it all to five cents.

A Baker's Dozen

By Dr. Charles Fleischer

YOU have often heard the phrase, a baker's dozen—meaning one for good measure.

The other day an enterprising grocer of New York's humanly picturesque East Side undertook to attract trade by putting into his window the sign:

Of course, that only meant reducing the cost to the customer by one-twelfth, but the good humor accompanying the act of good-will made good publicity and better sales.

The baker's—or in this case the grocer's—dozen idea suggests that glad and exuberant giving of more than is expected, or the doing of more than is called for in the contract, which characterizes your truly generous person.

If you happen not to have that particular virtue, you would be wise to assume it and, gradually, to achieve it.

For generosity is as paying as it is beautiful.

That is to say, it earns dividends of appreciation and response which make it worth while to cultivate the quality of large-heartedness and open handedness.

Even if, unfortunately, you are habitually selfish, you know which is the lovelier kind of nature, and inevitably you pay it the tribute of admiration.

Why not emulate as well as admire? Why not try to become like that which, almost above your will, compels your homage?

Even if you are born selfish, you may try to be re-born generous.

If you have had the centripetal habit of seeking advantage and gain beyond that to which you are entitled, you can become centrifugal, radiating from yourself thoughts and deeds, words and gifts which are the symbols of a rich and generous nature.

If you have been employer or employed, getting as much as possible and giving as little as necessary in return, you will find yourself happier and more successful in reversing the process by giving more than is expected.

If you have habitually offered eleven or ten where twelve was due, suppose you emulate the clever grocer and give a baker's dozen.

Then you will gradually become generous by second nature!

School vs. Work

Editor Boston American:

With the opening of schools many parents and children must make the decision between school and work. It ought not to be a difficult question to decide, since all the evidence is in favor of the school. Industry can offer little to offset the irreparable loss of a year's education.

The time is not far distant when the state will protect itself by requiring every boy and girl to remain in school until sixteen. If the people elect legislators with vision this Fall such a law will be passed when the General Court convenes in January. In the meantime every influence must be exerted to return to the schools as many of the children as possible whom the law now allows to go to work.

GRAFTON D. CUSHING,
President Massachusetts Child Labor Committee.

Questionable Methods

Editor Boston American:

In reply to "Leon Klein, New York." As long as I have been associating with business men (I am a salesman), I have never met any Gentiles who had such respect for Jewish money and Jewish business ability as Mr. Klein states.

Mr. Klein's trouble is that of most Jews I have met—and I've met a great many—they do not seem to realize that their attitude toward most things, particularly in a business sense, is at variance with our own.

My dislike for Jews is not based on religious beliefs or anything except the fact that they employ questionable business methods, and are so wrapped up in making money that they will actually sleep four in a bed! Ask anyone in Revere.

LOUIS ALBRO.

Catholic Names

Editor Boston American:

Replying to the letter of Mr. Samuel L. Hart of Fairhaven, Mass., in which he states that "Upon looking at a map of the early settlements you would think you were in a second England; perhaps the Catholics were so modest they disliked to name places after themselves," beg to state that, with public libraries so handy, it is deplorable that such an exhibition of historical ignorance should be. For Mr. Hart's benefit, would suggest that he look up the origin of America, and he will find that it is named after Americus Vespucci, a Catholic; that Columbus, the discoverer of America, was also of this faith, and that if he will take the trouble he will learn after whom Lake Champlain was named.

VERITAS.

Helped Other Nations

Editor Boston American:

I note a communication in your columns of September 12 signed "Old Glory," wherein he asks some questions about Ireland's troubles and what they have to do with America. His first question, "If America is expected to fight for the Irish cause, why should she not take up the cause for Poland, Armenia, etc." Has not America already fought for the countries he mentions? Was not the late war fought for the rights of small nations, self-determination, etc., or does he believe we simply went in to help and save England. If he believes that Englishmen in America have a right to use our country to help their motherland, what about the rights of Americans of other racial stocks?

T. P. CAHILL.
West Somerville.

Government Ownership

Editor Boston American:

Your correspondent, Thomas B. Watkins, is correct in his assertion that the government should take the coal mines, that they are God's provision for the people. This is logical. The psalmist said truly many years ago, stating a great and eternal economic fact of ownership, "The earth is the Lord's, and the fullness thereof; the world and they that dwell therein." He is the creator of the coal. And so should be brought out of the ground with a mutual and satisfying sense of thanksgiving.

WILLIAM A. RYAN.
Malden.

Children's Teeth

Editor Boston American:

One of the greatest evils which affects the child of today is caries of the teeth. Cavities are ideal culture mediums for all sorts of pathogenic organisms. The child who has overcome an attack of diphtheria, scarlet fever or any other infectious disease, becomes a carrier of that disease by carrying the organisms in the cavities of the teeth. When we realize the truth that they do not suffer alone, but pass the bacteria to other children, we shall have advanced a big step away from child mortality.

If This Is Your Birthday

You Are LUCKY

YOU are temperamentally reactionary if born today, and no matter what principle you may profess your entire philosophy will be based on the proposition of might makes right. You are not necessarily belligerent, and by might you may mean the force of intellectual persuasion, but at the same time you will allow no pacific ideal to stand between you and your goal.

Today is one of unusually good omen for all chemical industries.

During the ensuing year you will form many new and lasting friendships, particularly during the sign of Leo, July 23 to August 22.

A child born today will be strong in body and mind, energetic and forceful and dominant.

ARE YOU TOO EMOTIONAL?

Are you moody?

Do you change suddenly from happiness to sadness, from gaiety to gloom?

Easily discouraged and as easily encouraged, are you?

Flutter back and forth many times each day, swayed by emotion?

Little things should not be allowed to wreck your happiness, nor should a pleasing thing send you into an ecstasy of joy.

This sort of disposition is hard to control, but you should keep on trying to get the mastery.

You can recall occasions where your too exuberant enthusiasm has lost you the very thing you wanted to possess or keep.

You also remember that the melancholy mood, which comes on sometimes, has kept you out of the very thing you most would like to do.

Recollections of this sort should be sufficient to convince you that you need more control of your emotions.

SEEN AND HEARD

IRISH carrier pigeons can fly longer and faster than many other pigeons, according to ROBERT MILNE, pigeon expert in the United States, who has thirty-five choice birds in his Dorchester loft. During the war when in France as a lieutenant in charge of the carrier pigeons, he tried out the Irish type and found that they flew from St. Nazaree to Belfast, a distance of over 650 miles, in one day.

"YOUNG BILL" CHAFE of Cambridge, who was recently appointed as junior steward of Cambridge Royal Arch Chapter, is following in the footsteps of his illustrious dad, who served Chambridge Chapter as High Priest in 1912. The appointment, made by HIGH PRIEST FRED A. KENISTON, was popular and "Young Bill" has been shaking hands ever since.

It will be interesting news to the residents of the Ashmont-Dorchester section to know that two more trees have been removed from the Mary Hemenway Park. This makes a total of seven so far since the city purchased the playgrounds. At this rate it will be only a matter of ten or twenty years before the new park is ready.

Although his writings are widely read, comparatively few people know that RALPH D. PAINE pounds out his fiction at Durham, N. H., college town no great run out of Boston. Mr. Paine still finds time to spin yarns of the fighting in which he mingled for "Cuba Libre" and has one particular story of a "Four-Eyes Pete," mysterious Harvard freshman chased through the tamed Wild West by another armed man before whom bespectacled Pete constantly fled.

Birthplace of THOMAS BAILEY ALDRICH, famous Boston author, when this city was nicknamed "the Athens of America," has been fitted up as a society showplace at Portsmouth, N. H.. Thousands of tourists have visited it in the past few weeks.

JOHNSTON BIRD, Quincy High School freshman, and one of the prize winners in the recent Graphic Arts drawing contest conducted by the Boston American, already is making his artistic ability pay. Although but fifteen years of age, he has spent a fairly profitable Summer sketching window cards and posters for Quincy merchants.

The fire engine whistles and bells are always sweet music to the ears of the youngsters in the outlying sections, but the crowd that gathered at the Mary Hemenway School when the box at the building was sounded the other night was a mystery to both police and firemen. Someone remarked that the kiddies were probably worried as school opens

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON LITTLE JOURNEY'S

By Garrett P. Serviss

UP on the highlands that form the broad back of New York State, whose proud-crested head and neck are marked by the Adirondacks, I have been spending a few weeks hunting thoughts and making the closer acquaintance with nature that gets thoughts.

And nature has led me through many little adventures that I should have been a loser in missing. She has shown me places and things so packed full of virgin thought that I have no words in which to utter it. It has enriched me with capital as uncurrent in civilized society as the red man's wampum, but more valuable than gold to such as have faith in it and know its magic power. Perhaps it may be restored and will pass freely in some other world—but no matter if it shouldn't, for at least it brightens this one.

One day I set out for Richfield Springs on foot.

But presently I turned off the highway through a farmer's barnyard, being bound for Waiontha Hill (pronounce it "Wy"), the topographic king of that immediate realm. Its head bristles with woods, but its wide, steep flanks are bare, except for pasture and grain fields, corn fields and scattered trees and shrubs. There are a few outcrops of rock, which fifty million years ago, or more, formed part of the bottom of a shallow Devonian sea. I will tell of what they gave me a little later.

In passing round the farmer's barn to get into the field at the stretched-forth foot of Waiontha I got entangled in a quagmire. It was a low spot of ground, and an unnoticed brook, sent down by the sinking of hills, silently filled all its sink holes, which looked inky black with depth, while the percolating water made the intervening grass-covered humps soft and shaky.

While I was balancing on luck-sent stone, and wondering if the nearest green hump would hold me up, or pitch me off, or let me through to an undiscovered bottom, a watchdog and several turkeys, whose huge spotted eggs I had seen laid in the mow on the edge of the slough, discovered me and came my way. The dog barked and snarled when shown teeth, and one of the turkeys "gobbled"—a wonderful accomplishment that only turkeys have.

Then a crowd of cattle, chewing the cud, kneedeep in the slough also began to pay attention to me, and I looked anxiously to see if there was a bull among them.

But there was no bull, and while I still hesitated about my proposed jump, a little girl came around the barn and drove me out of my perplexity with gentle courtesy.

Real mountain climbing is no novelty to me, but now a little unexpected touch of romance having been given, I said to myself that because imagination has come along, Waiontha Hill will almost as good as Mount Blanc barring the absence of snow and ice.

Presently I got high enough to be able to see away across the distant Mohawk Valley, smoking with Summer heat, the blue tips and edges of the Adirondacks! In another direction gleamed Otsego Lake, and the magic land of Cooper's "Leatherstocking" was spread broadly around. I sat down and recalled all of those wonderful tales of America in her youth.

—Medbury Says—

The Crime Wave Is Creating a Large Crop of Correspondence School Sleuths

Now that the crime wave is spreading throughout the country, men from all over the United States are becoming detectives by mail.

All you've got to do is to send the school ten dollars and they'll mail you a badge.

After you study with one of these schools for a year you become a full-fledged detective and can tell a crook the minute you see one in a cell.

The badge they give you carries a lot of authority. If you see a burglar robbing a house, this badge gives you the right to call a policeman.

Of course, you could arrest the burglar yourself, if you can convince him that you're a detective.

If he won't believe you're a sleuth just have him wire the school at your expense.

These Sears Roebuck detectives work on some of the biggest cases in the country. They don't have to find their own clews the school sells them to their scholars for ten cents a piece.

In case you want to track a criminal the school will give you his description and mail you a sample of the scent free of charge.

If you don't catch the criminal you'll be surprised and if you do catch him the school will be surprised.

One pupil was very much discouraged. Burglars never do their work after dusting the day and this fellow's wife wouldn't let him go out at night.

All he could do was sit out on his front porch and hope that the crooks would come past his house.

But once while he was in the basement shining his badge, burglars got in and ransacked the upstairs.

The mail order detective stuff is great work. The scholars are up early every morning waiting for the postman to bring them a new list of mysteries to be solved.

You'd better clip the coupon now, they'll send you the badge tomorrow and you can arrest your brother the next day.

Bank Auditor Is Accused of Juggling Accounts for a Year

Walter T. Doyle, twenty-five years old, auditor of the Exchange Trust Company, charged with stealing $18,130 from the bank through his capacity as head bookkeeper, was arraigned today and held in $7,000 bail.

The thefts are alleged to have been carried out over a period of a year, during which time he is said to have juggled accounts in such a manner that no inkling of his defalcations reached his superiors until he went on his vacation.

Doyle is married and lives with his wife and three and one-half-year-old daughter in a comfortable apartment at No. 196 Cherwick road, Brighton. For the past, ten years he had been on an automobile trip with them through New Hampshire, Canada and New York. His arrest came when he completed his trip and returned to his home to await the end of his vacation, which would have come next Monday.

Speculation in State street stocks is said by the police to have swallowed a large share of the money. Neighbors near his home in Brighton said he had mentioned recently that he had suffered heavy losses on the market, although they thought little of it at the time.

Bank investigators who have been working up on the youthful embezzler, told newspapermen that he was connected in some way with a bootlegging gang. They believe that he furnished the money on which the bootleggers operated, and failed to recoup when he was "double-crossed." This, added to his failure in the stock markets, wiped out practically all of the money he had stolen.

NEW HAVEN INSISTS IT WON'T BACK DOWN

New Haven, Ct., Sept. 15.—That no negotiations are in progress and no agreement will or can be reached with former employes of the mechanical department who went on strike July 1, was a reiteration of the attitude of the management towards its striking shopmen, in a statement issued by the New Haven Railroad today.

This statement closed with these words:

"Our position, as stated repeatedly is unchanged. Any ex-employe who desires to re-enter our service must make application in the usual way. If vacancy exists for which he is qualified he will be give same consideration as any other applicant for work and will take his place in the seniority roster from the date of his last entry into our service."

DUNN NAMED FOR SOLDIERS' RELIEF

John H. L. Noyes, head of the death record division of the registry department at City Hall, and recently named by Mayor Curley to be soldiers' relief commissioner, was today turned down for that position by the Civil Service Commission.

Brigadier-General John H. Dunn, chairman of the board of street commissioners, was immediately named for the place. Noyes' salary is at present $1,800. Dunn receives $4,500.

The position of soldiers' relief commissioner has been open for a long time. Many prominent men have been asked to take it and have refused on one excuse or another. General Dunn was among them. In allowing his name to be sent in Dunn apparently has reconsidered his first actions.

FIGHT TO HELP CUP RACER

Designer of Mayflower Asks Halifax Committee to Reverse Ruling Barring Her

A final attempt to have the fishing schooner Mayflower accepted as a contestant in the International Fishermen's Races was made today by W. Starling Burgess, designer of the vessel.

Mr. Burgess telegraphed the International Fishermen's Trophy Committee chairman, H. R. Silva, offering to go to Halifax at once and show them that the carrying capacity of the boat is greater than that of any two-masted fishing schooner in the American fleet, and that he would change the rigging to suit them if they will reconsider their decision to ban the schooner.

The telegram follows:

BURGESS DISAPPOINTED.

"Am bitterly disappointed with your committee's decision in barring the Mayflower from the International Fishermen's races.

"I note that you discover nothing in my design contravening the deed of gift, but base your adverse finding on the two matters of her carrying capacity and the somewhat unusual details of her rig.

"I cannot help coming to the conclusion that the actual figures of her displacement and useful carrying capacity are not familiar to your committee. If I can prove to your committee's satisfaction that the Mayflower's useful load carrying capacity is actually in excess of that of any two-masted fishing vessel in the American fleet, and if I can further agree on behalf of her owners to change all details of her rig that are in any way a departure from fishermen's practice, will your committee reconsider its decision?

WOULD GO TO HALIFAX.

"If so, I shall be glad to go to Halifax immediately and lay the entire matter before you. Will you be kind enough to wire me at your earliest convenience?"

A committee of Boston fishing vessel owners and those interested will go to Gloucester tonight to attend the meeting of the American race committee and urge them to stand by their first statement that they will stand by the Mayflower if she wins the elimination races in mid-October.

FORMER SEC. McADOO CATCHES BIG TROUT

Yellowstone Park, Wyo., Sept. 15.—William G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, has taken Yellowstone Park fishermen off their feet. Yesterday he reported catching a rainbow trout weighing seventeen pounds. Mr. McAdoo, who arrived here after a trip down the Snake River in Idaho, said that he hooked the record trout while fishing from a raft on which the river trip was made.

THREAT TO 'FRAME' OFFICER

Friends of Georgia Smith Testify She Had Marked Bills to Catch Evans

Testimony of two men friends of Miss Georgia Smith, Dartmouth street masseuse, in which they declared that Miss Smith told them she was planning to frame a police officer who had too much on her, featured the trial of Patrolman William Evans in the municipal court today.

Evans is accused by the masseuse of offering to have her permit transferred if she would give him $50.

W. J. Carter and George Lewis, both of No. 63 Dartmouth street, testified that just one day before the woman accused Patrolman Evans of the bribery she had told them she was going to frame a policeman because he had too much on her. They testified that she said she had some marked bill "to get him with."

Deputy Superintendent of Police Thomas F. Goode took the stand and testified, as to the character of Evans. He described Evans as a "very efficient man." He said that he had known Evans for three years.

Captain Patrick King, department drillmaster, testified that Evans was a valuable member of the department and had often acted as assistant drillmaster. He also stated that Evans is an expert on guns, and as such was valuable to the department.

Patrolman Carty of the Dedham street station testified that Miss Smith had been warned by him to keep off the street where he said he had caught her soliciting several times. Patrolman Sullivan of Station 16 testified that Miss Smith had frequented the Charles River Basin district and had solicited there.

COUPLE HAS HARD TIME GETTING WED

Portland, Me., Sept. 15.—The course of true love proved rocky for Harry C. Foote and Miss Anola J. Carmichael, who hurried from pillar to post to secure a marriage license in time to allow their wedding to be performed as scheduled.

When the legal obstacles were explained, Foote caught the clerk of South Portland and got a license there. But this was no better, the clergyman pointed out, at least, for five days.

Then Foote had to rout out a judge. He could find none in South Portland. At last, late in the evening, he induced Judge Joseph R. Reed of Portland to grant him a waiver of the five-day law. And at midnight, in City Hall, Portland, he was finally married by City Clerk Frank B. Welch, in the presence of his guests.

School Race War Is Laid to "Snobbery"

WASHINGTON SCHOOL AND THREE BARRED CHILDREN

THREAT TO DRASTIC ACTION NOW PLANNED AGAINST 'UNFAIR' MILLS

Fall River, Sept. 15.—After passing several important resolutions, the twenty-second annual international convention of the United Textile Workers of America adjourned the convention today that has been in progress since Monday.

What is regarded as the most important resolution was one in which the executive board of the organization is asked to continue its work to bring about a uniform forty-eight-hour-week in the textile industry in this country and in Canada.

In the resolution the general officers are empowered to call a general strike in any locality or district either in the United States or in Canada whenever it was judged necessary in the fight for a week of forty-eight working hours.

Another resolution pledged the support of the U. T. W. of A. to the American Federation of Labor in its campaign for a national child labor law.

Attorney-General Daugherty was condemned for his injunction directed against the striking railroad shopmen and for other alleged anti-union activities.

FAVOR BEER AND WINES.

A resolution sent in by the Glass Workers of America in favor of light wines and beer was indorsed.

A committee of the Textile Workers sent to Lonsdale, R. I., to investigate reports of discrimination against union workers reported that the mill owners had promised that when the men returned to work Monday they would be no discrimination of any kind.

Hooksett, N. H., Sept. 15.—After a shutdown of fourteen weeks, the Dundee Mills of this place will resume operations next Monday on a forty-eight hour a week basis, it was announced today. The plant employs about 250 persons. It was originally closed, it was said, because of excessive stocks. It was not affected by the textile strike.

DR. WATERHOUSE TO JOIN M. I. T. FACULTY

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Dr. George R. Waterhouse of Buffalo, for the past sixteen years connected with Lackawanna Steel Company, first as metallographist and metallurgist and then metallurgical and inspecting engineer will leave next Friday for Boston to become head of department metallury in Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Dr. Waterhouse has had three years of university training in England, where he was born, and three years in Columbia University, New York, from which he came to the Lackawanna Steel Company.

STOLEN AUTO FOUND IN WATERTOWN

Four hours after the wrecked, deserted car of Oscar Bismach of 16 Leroy street, Dorchester, was found in Watertown, at Mt. Auburn and Parker streets, the owner notified the Dorchester police the car had been stolen. The driver had collided with a tree, putting the automobile out of commission.

GETS RICHES, BUT WILL SUE HART

BIG SUM FOR WIFE OF ACTOR

Cash and Baby Do Not Change Her Attitude Toward Film Player

Los Angeles, Sept. 15.—Mrs. William S. Hart will at once institute divorce proceedings against the famous screen star, it was announced here by Milton Cohen, Mrs. Hart's attorney.

The announcement followed closely after Hart's visit to his wife and her baby, at Santa Monica, which visit was followed by the announcement that he had settled more than $200,000 upon his family, preliminary to a severance of the marital ties.

Cohen states that Mrs. Hart, in her divorce complaint, will charge extreme cruelty, but he declines to cite alleged instances.

Hart's first sight of the baby was the result of negotiations between the opposing attorneys in the case. The primary purpose of the star's visit to the seaside cottage where the child was born a week ago was, however, to give him an opportunity to complete details surrounding the big settlement.

BABY HIS NAMESAKE

Hart, following the birth of the child, who has been named after him, said it gave him a "wonderful thrill" to think of himself as a father. But until today he steadfastly declined to go to Santa Monica.

After emerging from his wife's room it is said the screen star, in tears, exclaimed:

"The lawyers may be able to take him away from me, but they can't say he is not my child."

When Hart called he asked to be permitted to see the child, but his wife declined to let the baby be taken away from her, even for a few minutes.

There was nothing for Hart to do but to go to the upper room where his wife is convalescing and there the estranged couple met for the first time in many weeks.

The meeting, it is reported, was marked by an absence of restraint on either side. In fact, Mrs. Hart was even more cordial in greeting her husband and handed the baby over to him.

After confirming to his own satisfaction the reports from attorneys and Dr. J. J. Carter that the baby "looked just like his dad," Hart returned the baby to Mrs. Hart.

From under her pillow she then produced a "baby book" and requested her husband to write in it the names of all the child's ancestors on the paternal side. Bill obediently wrote the list of grandparents and great grand-parents as well as uncles and aunts.

Upon his return to Hollywood Hart was still enthusiastic on the subject of the baby. He cried proudly:

"Why, that isn't a baby; it's a man. He weighs about ten pounds and he's thirteen inches around the chest."

Further dimensions were indicated by Hart in describing the baby. As near as could be made out from his gestures, the boy as long as a giraffe's neck, but the fact is the baby measures nineteen inches from scalp to sole. The film star rhapsodized:

"Anyhow, he's the finest baby I ever saw. He looks—just like me—and when he gets his full growth he's going to be as tall, maybe taller. He's got his mother's nose, but my head and eyes. He's mine clear through."

But a strange expression came over Bill's face when he was asked if this enthusiasm for the child might not melt the icy barrier of estrangement between himself and Mrs. Hart.

NO RECONCILIATION.

He replied briefly, almost curtly: "Impossible!"

For the baby, it is said, $100,000 has been set aside as a trust fund. Hart is paying $100 a week to his wife's mother until she has received $5,000 under an agreement made last December at the time of the marriage.

The terms of settlement between the Harts last May, following their separation, provided that she should have "sole care, control and custody" of the expected child.

15-MILE LIMIT ON SOMERVILLE STREET

Declaring that reckless auto drivers, speeding over Franklin street, Somerville, are a menace to 2,000 school children who use the street daily, Somerville aldermen today passed an ordinance limiting the speed of autos on that street to 15 miles an hour. A fine of $50 will be imposed for violations of the ordinance. An amendment offered to limit the speed of autos to 15 miles throughout the city was rejected.

Banker's Wife Born Out of Wedlock, Fights Suit

MRS. ELAINE LEE HARRIS

SCORES BANKER WHO WOULD BE RID OF WIFE

George Gordon Battle, Mrs. Elaine Lee Harris' attorney, in fighting Harris' move to stop payments of $1,000 a month to Mrs. Harris under a separation agreement, said:

"In all my wide experience at the bar, I have never seen a more contemptible exhibition of lies in an effort made by a man to rid himself of his wife then in this case before you.

BORN OUT OF WEDLOCK.

"The charge made by Harris that his wife had been the mistress of a Memphis gambler, named Eli Raynor, have been disproved by the fact that the girl was only ten years of age at the time when she is charged by her husband with being a kept woman.

It is an unfortunte fact that Mrs. Harris was born out of wedlock, but her husband knew it at the time of his marriage to her. That fact is certainly no reflection on the girl."

Caruthers Ewing, counsel for the banker, said his client had originally been informed that his wife came from a distinguished Southern family and that subsequent investigation proved this to be untrue.

GAMBLER'S STATEMENT.

The attorney submitted a lengthy report embodying statements from gamblers of Memphis describing the banker's wife as a woman they knew well as Ella Lee.

Battle then started his sensational attack on Harris. He said that Harris first met his wife in Houston, Texas. They were married in July, 1915, and lived together until the Summer of 1919, when they separated following the alleged "atrocious attack" in the Riverside Drive apartment.

BAKER WEDDING 'ON AGAIN, NOW OFF AGAIN'

London, Sept. 15.—The Mary Landon Baker-Allister McCormick romance, which has already set a new record for marriage postponements, appeared again to be "off" today.

Miss Baker, who is the daughter of a millionaire Chicago family, has changed her plans after giving orders for the construction of her trousseau. She has bought passage for Switzerland and plans to leave tomorrow. Mr. McCormick, as far as known, will remain here.

Miss Baker had announced yesterday that she would be married to Mr. McCormick on October 20. On several previous occasions she had left the patient groom "waiting at the church" by failing to show up herself.

COURT LENIENT TO RUMANIAN BELLE

Olga Kurianska, pretty Rumanian girl, told Judge Hayden in Roxbury Court today that she supported her 145-a-month apartment at No. 165 Queensbury street by the proceeds of her work as dressmaker. She was charged with being idle and disorderly.

Policemen told of seeing her, on occasions, accost men on Boylston street and ride with them to her flat. They told of an occasion on September 10 when they went to the apartment house, said through the speaking tube, "Olga, this is Lee," and were invited upstairs. There they found Olga, they said, in lingerie, while a Providence man was in the same room with her. The man, Louis Raphael, defaulted when his case came up today.

Judge Hayden first fined the girl $15 for a statutory offence and imposed jail sentences on the other charges. However, when the girl said through counsel that she intended returning to Rumania, the judge continued the case, revoking the prison sentences for the time.

LYNN WOMAN WINS BY 59 VOTES

Marion Cowan Burrows, the most prominent woman citizen of Lynn, has won a big verdict in the State primaries, according to an informal tabulation of the vote made in the Secretary of State's office today.

Although defeated on the face of the early returns, Dr. Burrows now seems to have won the Republican nomination for the House in the Fourteenth Essex District.

It is a three-man district and strongly Republican. There were nine Republican candidates. The first returns ceded fourth place to Dr. Burrows, giving third to a male opponent, Alfred W. Ingalls. The latest tabulation indicates that Dr. Burrows has won by a vote of 1,467 to Ingalls's 1,408. There will be a recount.

MAYOR STOPS PICKETING AT HAVERHILL

Haverhill, Sept. 15.—Striking shoe workers of the J. H. Winchell Company of this city will not be permitted to picket the gates to the factory.

This ultimatum was issued today following a conference in Mayor Flanders office, which was attended by the Mayor, Commissioner of Public Safety Bartlett, City Marshal Worcester and other city officials. Notice has been given the strikers that anyone caught picketing the shoe plant will be arrested at once. Innocent bystanders were also given instructions to keep moving or they will be arrested along with the pickets.

Additional police guards have been stationed about the factory. This drastic action is the result of a disturbance Thursday night when a large group of alleged strikers stoned a house in which 100 imported shoe workers are being housed.

Police were called to the scene and dispersed the attacking force.

The strike at the Winchell shop has been going on for some time. Recently there has been considerable bitterness among the men on strike because of the importation of workers and because a group of 200 strikers will not be recognized by the company because they joined a new labor organization soon after the strike started. Men who did not join that organization have been taken back.

FIND 'HOPHEAD,' NOT A MOUSE, SCARED GIRL

She was seeking Mr. and Mrs. William Sears of No. 116 Chestnut street, because, she earnestly assured a policeman, they would protect her.

Then he went loking for Mr. and Mrs Sears, protectors of mouse-frightened young women, and found them to be out.

Later a detail of officers went to the house at No. 116 Chestnut street, where Mr. and Mrs. Sears had a room, and found them in. They also found thirty grains of morphine, fifteen grains of cocaine and three hypodermic syringes with needles.

In court today Mr. and Mrs. Sears, and Miss Scott, who had recovered from her fright, were arraigned on three counts each for violating the drug laws. Their cases were continued for two weeks and they were held in $1,000 each.

FOOTPRINTS OF BABES TO BE RECORDED

Twenty years from now—even less, says Miss Clara L. Parsons, head of the New York State Bureau of Criminal Records at Albany—every baby in the United States will be fingerprinted or foot-printed within a few weeks after its birth.

The imprint of his tiny feet will be photographer and filed under his name and his parents at a county bureau. The feet will be taken instead of the fingers, because a young baby's fingers are too small to reproduce successfully in a print photograph.

Meanwhile members of the International Association of Identification attending the three-day annual convention of finger-print experts at the State House are working toward this end.

"The objection that such a plan would entail an unnecessary amount of routine can be met with proof of its need," declared Miss Parsons.

SOLVES BABY PUZZLE.

"The increasing crime wave has demonstrated the need of the finger-printing bureau of the police department as it was never realized before. Apart from its use in criminal cases, finger-printing is becoming necessary in ordinary civil life.

"Most of the big cities in the United States are using the finger-print system in their maternity hospitals. There is no danger then that a mother may be sent home with a child of another. The child's foot-prints are photographer shortly after its birth and the photograph is filed with the print of the mother's fingers taken when she enters the hospital.

"If there is any question as to the maternity of a child, its foot-prints may be compared with the mother's. There is bound to be some similarity.

URGES COUNTY BUREAUS.

"While no two persons ever had the same fingerprint, there is an unmistakable similarity of lines in members of the same family. This is especially true in the case of twins. The likeness there is most noticeable.

"Today we find countless numbers of men and women, victims of amnesia or loss of memory, sent to public institutions and wasting a lifetime while their people search for them fruitlessly, simply because we have no adequate system of cataloguing our citizenry.

PRINTS EASY TO READ.

It will soon be possible to identify a criminal by his fingerprints as quickly as one could find his name in the telephone directory, Director Joergensen said.

"It is merely a matter of reading the lines on the fingers," he said. "Every police station ought to have the fingerprints of all the people of the district."

In a semi-final match of the Middle States singles Mrs. F. I. Mallory (Molla Bjurstedt) of New York defeated Miss Leslie Bancroft of Boston 6—2, 6—3.

2 STRANGLED ON ROOF; ANOTHER DEAD IN RIVER

New York, Sept. 15.—Two unidentified white men, who had been strangled to death, were found today on the roofs of two tenements on the West Side in a district populated almost entirely by negroes. Their pockets were turned inside out.

The two victims had been strangled with their own neckties. Police were mysterified as to whether they had been slain where the bodies were found, or had been dragged to the roof afterward.

One body was identified by Harry Levine, used motor car dealer, as that of a farmer from Norwalk, Ct., who had visited him yesterday to sell his car. One of Levine's cards was found near the body. Levine said the victim had spoken of being acquainted with Thomas Howard, vaudeville actor, and the police are seeking Howard in an effort to complete the identification.

Bootleggers were today held responsible by the police for the murder of Robert Reynolds, former saloonkeeper and well known in sporting circles, whose body, pierced with bullet and knife wounds, was found in the East River.

Reynolds, known to sporting friends as "Bobbie," always carried in his pockets several hundreds of dollars, but his clothing was penniless when found.

The supposition of the police is that Reynolds was lured to some lonely spot on the shore of the river on the promise of bootleggers to sell him liquor and he then was murdered.

The last seen of Reynolds he was entering a taxicab with two strange men in front of a Third avenue cafe Sunday morning. When the body was discovered the coat and vest were missing.

ACTOR CHARGES WIFE WITH INFIDELITY

New York, Sept. 15.—Accusing Bertha Ash, his wife, of acts of infidelity in New York and Atlantic City, Arthur Ash, known on the stage as Arthur Ashley, and a member of the Lambs Club, served papers in a suit for divorce upon attorneys representing Mrs. Ash. The actor asks that he be awarded the custody of the couple's two children, Melville, ten, and Edwin, eight. Ash charges that his wife violated her nuptial vows on various occasions between July 1 and August 10 last.

Too Late! Brides Kicked 'Obey' Out Long Ago

Portland, Ore., Sept. 15.—No longer need the blushing bride promise to "obey" her husband till death intervenes, according to the new ruling of the house of deputies of the Episcopal Church, which deletes the word from the marriage ceremony, and which becomes church law in three years.

More stringent canons aimed at divorce are yet to be passed on by the house of bishops, including one accepted by the house of bishops prohibiting any Episcopalian from being a principal in a marriage in which one of the principals had been divorced. The one exception favors the innocent party where the divorce cause was infidelity. The house of bishops also rescinded the rule barring suicides from the usual ritual.
